Chiefs in Italy

ROME (AP)—Gen. Marshall, U.S. army chief of staff, and Gen. Arnold, U.S. Army air force chief, have visited Rome and the Italian front, conferring with Allied military chiefs here, it was disclosed tonight.

Losses Moderate

OTTAWA (CP)—Defence Minister Ralston said in the Commons this afternoon Canadian casualties in the Normandy invasion have been "moderate" and below the figure which had been estimated for the initial phase of the action.

He was answering a question from Hon. R. B. Hanson, P.C., York-Sunbury, N.B.

Appeal Denied

WINNIPEG (CP)—The Manitoba Court of Appeal today denied the appeal of Albert Victor Westgate, 45, from sentence of death for murder of 16-year-old Edith Cook in a downtown Winnipeg hotel last Dec. 4. Chief Justice E. A. McPherson said the court's decision was unanimous. Westgate was sentenced last May 8 to be hanged July 24.

Nanaimo Sailor Awarded D.S.M.

OTTAWA (CP)—The navy announced tonight the award of the Distinguished Service Medal to Stoker (1st class) T. H. Forrester of 16 Fourth Avenue, Nanaimo, B.C., and mention in dispatches to Lieut. John Robinson Woods of Toronto.

The announcement said Forrester's award was for "bravery in saving his shipmates."

Nazi Says Britons Well Reinforced

LONDON (CP-Reuters)—Capt. Ludwig Serotius, chief military correspondent of the German Transoceanic Agency, wrote tonight:

"The British Army in the Caen area received substantial reinforcements during the week-end, only a fraction of which have as yet been thrown into the battle. A major British offensive along the entire front here in the place of the local attacks made so far can therefore be expected."

Urges Intervention

WASHINGTON (AP)—United States foreign policy was discussed in both Houses of Congress today as State Secretary Cordell Hull declined to discuss specific matters that led him to hand Finnish Minister Hjalmar J. Procopio his passport last week. Senator Arthur Vandenberg (Rep.-Mich.) brought up the Finnish action in the Senate, expressing deep regret over the State Department's action and voicing hope of 11th hour intervention by the U.S. to bring about a Russian-Finnish armistice.

Churchill Says Germany May Be Crushed in 1944

LONDON (CP)—Prime Minister Churchill, in a speech delivered at the Mexican embassy four days ago and permitted to be published only today, said the months of this summer may "bring full success to the cause of freedom."

He said the invasion of Normandy was a great tactical surprise to the Germans who did not know it was coming until they saw the ships, and "it may be that events will occur in the next few months which will show us whether we are soon to be released of the curse which has been laid upon us by the Germans."

OPERATIONS LINKED

The invasion was launched "in full accord" with the Russians and the decisions reached at Teheran, he added, "and although the execution of the plans adopted there is far from being complete, it is being steadily unrolled, and the months of this summer may by the victories of this Allied campaign bring full success to the cause of freedom."

Touching on political aspects of the war, the Prime Minister said efforts were being made "to achieve permanent co-operation and to build up an organization which after this war will strengthen the bonds between all our nations and will succeed in preserving peace."

"We look forward to the future in which the rights of small nations will be upheld and protected and in which the strong will use their power under the law for the protection of the weak."

Russ Near Viipuri

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet Field dispatches declared today the Red Army had smashed forward to the threshold of Viipuri, key city in southern Finland, after breaking the Mannerheim Line and capturing Koivisto fortress at the mouth of Viipuri Bay.

Further inland on the Karelian Isthmus the Russians were reported to have driven 2½ miles past the Mannerheim Line in the Murila sector.

While the Red Army's left flank had made the most progress along the Gulf of Finland, dispatches said the right wing on the opposite side of the isthmus now was advancing along Lake Ladoga, capturing numerous points.

Gen. Leonid A. Govorov's Leningrad forces, which launched the offensive nine days ago, appeared to have broken the back of the Finn army, and prospects for an early complete victory over Finland seemed bright.

First Accident Of Swimming Season At Thetis Lake

Victim of the first swimming accident here of this season, a 21-year-old lance-corporal of an eastern Canadian regiment died at Thetis Lake Sunday afternoon while swimming.

Inquest into the death will be conducted by Dr. E. C. Hart, coroner, at Sand's Mortuary at 10:30 Wednesday morning. Next-of-kin have been notified. The name of the soldier will be released shortly.

Police, who with the aid of firemen and stenders recovered the body, were of the opinion the soldier may not have drowned but suffered an attack while swimming. The body was recovered at 4:15 by William Webber, city fireman, after dragging operations had been carried on for two hours. The soldier disappeared at 2:40.

Onlookers reported the soldier was swimming between the two floats with some friends. Suddenly he sank into the water. He did not rise again. The body was found in about 30 feet of water a few feet from one of the floats.

Nearby swimmers, after it was learned the man had disappeared, attempted to locate him by diving but the water was too deep to reach the bottom. One swimmer, whose name could not be learned today, descended to the lake floor several times by climbing down a rope anchored to a large stone. His efforts were unsuccessful.

B.C. Police organized two boats for dragging operations.

One boat was operated by Constables John Lockie, C. P. Crouch and C. Caldwell. The other was operated by Mr. Webber, who was taken to the lake to operate a city inhalator, and Capt. D. R. Stuart.

A large crowd of bathers congregated while the dragging was carried on.

Allied Planes Hit Rocket Coast, Nazi Air Fields

By GLADWIN HILL
SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE (AP)—U.S. heavy bombers 500 to 700 strong hammered Hitler's rocket-bomb launching area of the Pas-de-Calais today as more of the pilotless explosives hurtled over into England, and other big Allied planes struck heavily at German air bases in southwestern France.

Fighter-bombers, attacking at the rate of one a minute, drove home a three-play assault in direct support of the invasion forces. One wave pounded trapped German forces on northern Cherbourg peninsula. Another battered communication routes to the southeast, over which the Nazis were trying to reinforce their armored divisions in the Tilly-Caen sector. The third stream-bombed the area north of Paris, disrupting enemy reinforcement lines.

The U.S. heavy bombers slashed at rocket installations after a night assault by the R.A.F., in which one plane was lost, and a raid in the same area Sunday by 250 big U.S. bombers.

Other formations hit airfield targets including Bordeaux, Merignac, Cazaux, west of Bordeaux, and Corne Ecluse, near the coast west of Cognac.

A rare stretch of bad June weather still was hampering air operations.

BLAST CONCENTRATIONS

Fighter-bombers blasted to pieces a concentration of several hundred Germans. One fighter group saw what looked like a big procession of citizens out for a ride in horse shays, but when the pilots "buzzed" the cavalcade for a closer look German soldiers dived for cover. The ammunition-loaded "shays" were sent up in a string of firecracker explosions while horses scampered across the fields.

The Germans apparently are making increased use of horse-drawn vehicles, indicating perhaps a shortage of motor vehicles or necessity of using horses to go over and around battered roads.

Mrs. Hart Sponsors 200th B.C. Ship

Mrs. John Hart will sponsor the 10,000-ton Victory ship Fort St. Ignace, which will be launched from No. 2 yard of Victoria Machinery Depot Ltd., at 5:40 this evening.

The St. Ignace will be the 200th ship launched in British Columbia yards since the war construction program was inaugurated.

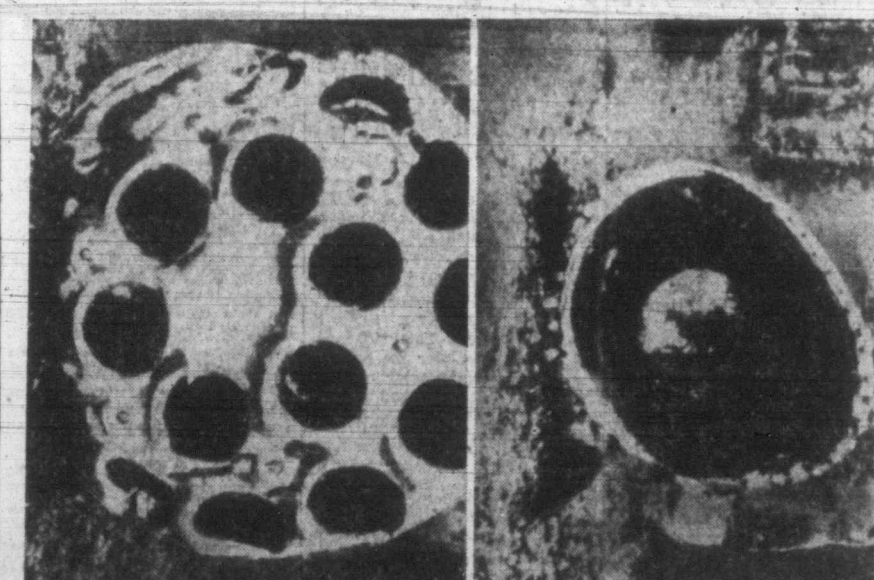

Hit By Nazi Secret Weapon

Soldiers and civilians search for bodies in the ruins of a house said to have been hit by one of the many Nazi pilotless planes which drove into southern England in the enemy's first secret weapon attack. Described as midget planes that show a yellow glow at the rear and trail streams of thick smoke, they fly at great speed and explode at they hit the ground. (Signal Corps Radiotelephoto).

ROMMEL AND THE ROBOTS—German caption on this picture just received from Stockholm says Field Marshal Rommel, second from right, is inspecting catapault battery similar to ones which fired radio-controlled robots at shores of England. With him are Nazi army chiefs and generals. (Radiotelephoto).

RADIO-CONTROLLED ROCKET BOMB?—Photographs purporting to show wreckage of a rocket bomb are published by the Stockholm Dagens Nyheter, along with reports that the missile had landed and exploded near Kalmar, Sweden. Lower photo shows what are believed to be exhaust vents for the rocket gases that propelled the bomb. (Radiotelephoto).

Railway Men Get Increase In Wages

OTTAWA (CP)—The National War Labor Board announced today approval of applications for wage increases by Canadian employees of United States railways operating in Canada.

The application for the increases was made by a number of railway unions. The case does not affect the general application of Canadian railway workers for increases to level Canadian and U.S. railway wages.

The unions, which represent certain Canadian as well as U.S. employees of a group of railroads, sought the increases in applications filed with the board Feb. 11 on the grounds that the Canadian wage levels should be brought closer to the U.S. schedule because the workers per-

Yanks Within 8 Miles of Port In New Advance

By ALAN RANDALL
SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE (CP)—U.S. forces squeezed within eight miles of Cherbourg today and shelled the strategic port while sharp local actions raged along the eastern sector of the line held by British and Canadian troops.

British troops pushed southward to occupy the northern end of Tilly-sur-Seuilles and at the western end of the line the Americans repulsed a heavy but localized German attempt to break out of the Cherbourg peninsula.

Steadily strengthening their hold all across the peninsula, the U.S. forces, after turning back this attack, struck out both north and south to widen their cordon and captured Briquebec, only 11 miles south of the southern edge of Cherbourg.

Dispatches from Gen. Montgomery's 21st Army Group headquarters said as many as 50,000 Germans may have been caught in the Cherbourg trap.

Ready to Seize New Opening

Meanwhile the situation from Caumont to Troarn, east of Caen and across the Orne River may be likened to two-boxers in a ring sparring for an opening. East of Tilly in the Caen sector, where the Canadians are holding the line, there has been what was described as "close infighting," with intermittent shelling and sniping by both sides.

Although British forces fought their way into the northern end of shell-torn Tilly, the Germans still are holding on in the southern part of the town between Bayeux and Caen.

The German thrust in the Cherbourg peninsula was a heavy local attack near St. Jacques de Nehou, about 10 miles inland from the west coast, and it was thrown back with heavy losses.

Headquarters said the Americans, laying siege to Cherbourg after thrusting a seven-mile corridor across the peninsula, were building up strength for "the next step."

U.S.-Held Carenten Heavily Shelled

German guns laid a heavier shell barrage on U.S.-held Carenten, stronghold near the eastern base of Cherbourg peninsula.

Other U.S. troops on the north-eastern base of the line choking off Cherbourg fought toward the port from the Montebourg area, 14 miles to the southeast.

(Berlin radio said U.S. forces had made a "slight advance in the direction of Valognes," 10 miles southeast of Cherbourg, indicating the German stronghold of Montebourg possibly is being by-passed.)

Local advances were scored on other sectors of the beachhead, headquarters said, as Gen. Montgomery, the Allied ground commander, built up his forces for a typical "Monty" punch, backed up by thousands of big guns.

East of Tilly, too, British forces have made limited gains in minor attacks, and have beaten off German counterattacks in the woods there.

There have been small gains by British and Canadian 3rd Division troops in the area around Caen, while a small advance has also been made southeast of Bayeux.

The spearhead of the U.S. drive to capture this big port was the U.S. 9th Division.

U.S. forces that severed the peninsula were busy widening their break-through path to the Atlantic coast. The path, even Sunday night, was seven miles wide. They were driving the Germans down toward La Haye du Puits, big road junction seven miles south of St. Sauveur le Vicomte, into what appeared to be another trap, for one U.S. trans-peninsula spearhead has been within four miles of La Haye for several days.

Tells of Boak and Invasion, But CBC Bungle Cheats Listeners

OTTAWA (Special)—In the last moments before zero hour when they moved out to the French coast as one of the advance units of the invasion fleet, Lt.-Cmdr. Eric Boak, 27-year-old captain of H.M.C.S. Sioux, and his officers talked not of war, but argued the comparative merits of fishing in Shawigan Lake near Victoria, B.C., and of skiing in the Laurentians.

Leonard W. Brockington, K.C., who made the invasion-day trip to France on the Sioux, and then returned to Canada by bomber at the week-end, broadcast over the CBC a detailed account of invasion week days on the ship and of the whole operation as he experienced it.

Out on the Pacific coast, only a small percentage of persons who looked forward to the broadcast are reported to have heard it, as CBC officials gave out the wrong time in announcing the broadcast and then did not bother to correct their mistake. The broadcast was announced for 4.30 p.m., Pacific time. CBC did not put it on until 5.30 p.m., but at 4.30 p.m. failed to tell listeners. The result was that persons who had been waiting for the broadcast said, "That's that bureaucratic CBC for you again," and resumed their Sunday afternoon activities.

Mr. Brockington told of Lt.-Cmdr. Boak from Victoria, B.C., and the members of his crew. He

Peter's Government, Tito Reach Accord

BARI, Italy (AP)—Marshal Tito and the Yugoslav government-in-exile announced Sunday an accord had been reached to help the peoples of Yugoslavia liberate their country.

The agreement was drafted at conferences in Yugoslavia attended by Dr. Ivan Subasic, charged by King Peter to form a new cabinet under the government-in-exile, Marshal Tito, guerrilla chieftain and head of the National Liberation Committee, and other parties.

It was learned in London that Subasic first met emissaries of Tito in Italy and then conferred with the Guerrilla chieftain himself in Yugoslavia.

He said before leaving London he intended to consult "all resistance movements" in his homeland, which would include Gen. Draza Mihailovic, King Peter's former War Minister.

Peter's prime conciliatory gesture toward Tito had been the ouster of Mihailovic in dissolution of the cabinet of Brozhdar Puric. Tito repeatedly had denounced Mihailovic as a traitor and Nazi collaborator.

Commerce Chamber War Job Well Done, Says G. A. Dobbie

Pacific coast Chambers of Commerce and Boards of Trade have done a great war job, according to G. A. Dobbie, president of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, who, with D. L. Morrell, executive secretary of the chamber, is making his annual presidential visit to larger Canadian centres and is visiting the Victoria chamber today.

Three objectives of the chamber were outlined by Mr. Dobbie as, first, to win the war; second, planning for the postwar period; and third, a program of free enterprise. In all these, said Mr. Dobbie, he found the chambers active and interested.

Of free enterprise, Mr. Dobbie said, "The Canadian Chamber of Commerce is working for a progressive private enterprise system wherein there will be a proper balance between government regulation and the free play of individual effort. Democratic liberty, not regimentation, is the goal."

To work for a fuller, freer and better life for all Canadians, he said, the chamber had organized its Department of Economic Development to plan, organize and operate a program of action aimed at developing the economic system of private enterprise.

Basic objectives of the program outlined by Mr. Dobbie were: a prosperous Canada through a restoration of freedom for business; maximum employment; a high standard of living through full production with the profit motive; mutual respect of each other's rights and responsibilities; security for the individual; appropriate incentives to those who contribute to production; and fair and equitable taxation.

RESPONSIBLE BUSINESS

By private enterprise, Mr. Dobbie said, the chamber meant a responsible business system under which the individual could by his own choice, and within the limits of public welfare, give full expression to his energy and ability in the conduct of his business and personal life.

Mr. Dobbie's visit, said Mr. Morrell, was intended so he might consult with the Chambers of Commerce and Boards of Trade and secure their advice and counsel for the improvement of Canadian conditions.

After leaving Victoria tonight, Mr. Dobbie and Mr. Morrell will return to Vancouver and then carry on to visit Edmonton, Saskatoon and Regina, after which, said Mr. Dobbie, he will return to his home in Galt, Ontario, and Mr. Morrell to Montreal.

Accompanying the visitors on their tour, which included an interview with Premier John Hart, were G. Hamilton Harman, president, Victoria Chamber of Commerce; J. V. Johnson, past president; B. Moxon, chairman of the B.C. regional committee of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce; and W. Phine, executive secretary of the Vancouver Board of Trade.

Canadian Section Of Normandy Line In Unusual Lull

By WILLIAM STEWART
WITH THE CANADIAN FORCES IN FRANCE (CP)—The last week has been quiet on the Canadian sector of the Normandy front, but the lull is ominous.

A lull in the battle, of course, doesn't mean a complete stillness. By day the roar of our fighter-bombers has been constant. Then there have been artillery exchanges and mortar fire and Canadian and German patrols have crept along the hedged at night on reconnaissance.

In forward areas the lull has produced a picture of soldiers, stripped to the waist, sunning themselves. As long as there is no shell or mortar fire close to them, they doze. But the whistle and explosion of one or two enemy projectiles sends them underground.

Sometimes there is a little gunfire for a while, then the guns behind the Canadians will open up with a dozen rounds or so. A few minutes after they have fired, German shells will come singing over.

The Canadians have had more time to examine the hulks of German tanks thrown against them last week and decided they are 45-ton Panthers rather than 60-ton Tigers.

Allies Advancing In Italy, Elba, As Nazis Fight Hard

By LYNN HEINZERLING

ROME (AP)—French colonial battalions captured Portoferraio and now hold the "greater part of the island of Elba." Allied headquarters announced today, while on the Italian peninsula mud-spattered Allied troops made gains on both flanks and in the centre of their line, taking Assisi, birthplace of St. Francis.

Beating down determined resistance on Elba, the French have rounded up several hundred prisoners, including several high officers, a communiqué said.

A field dispatch said the French had seized more than two-thirds of Elba.

Before taking Portoferraio, the capital on the north coast, the French captured Napoleon's villa. The invading forces brought artillery against the Germans who were bitterly contesting control of Porto Longone on the east coast.

Allied 5th and British-Canadian 8th Army troops in Italy are meeting increasing resistance as they drive the Germans back toward the Lupa-Rimini line, but more advances have been taken and strong pressure is being exerted against the stubborn German garrison at the central sector road hub of Perugia, 85 miles north of Rome and about 72 miles southeast of Florence.

(Reuters dispatch from London said the Algiers radio reported today that troops of the 8th Army had entered the southern suburbs of Perugia, 129 miles north of Rome, this morning.)

(Reports from Italy, however, said merely that armored units of the 8th were at San Martino Delice, less than three miles from Perugia.)

C.C.F. Chief Winch Says Family Got Threat By Phone

VANCOUVER (CP)—Harold Winch, C.C.F. leader in the British Columbia Legislature, said today his wife received three threatening telephone calls during his absence in Saskatchewan and he added he is convinced "someone" is carrying on an "intensified campaign to terrorize" his family.

Mr. Winch, who has just returned from participating in the Saskatchewan election campaign, reported to police his desk had been forced open and private papers stolen. A gold ring, gasoline coupons and a bracelet in the desk were not touched.

On several previous occasions Mr. Winch has told police of mysterious telephone calls to his home during which the callers made threats against his wife or slandered him. Today he reported a "postcard" campaign had been launched against him.

"Someone is sending these cards, which contain libelous statements about me to people in British Columbia and the prairie provinces," he said in an interview. "Several people have turned samples of these cards over to me."

R.C.A.F. Bomber Group and is looking forward to switching to "heavies," since all of his experience has been with lighter aircraft.

Conservative Party No Longer National Force—Robertson

OTTAWA (CP)—Senator W. McL. Robertson, president of the National Liberal Federation, said in a statement Sunday night the C.C.F. party's victory in the Saskatchewan election of June 15 "shows that the issue now is clearly joined between the Liberals and the C.C.F." and added that the Progressive Conservative Party, "without significant supporting in western Canada or in the province of Quebec, has in fact ceased to be a national political party."

Referring to a statement by John Bracken, national leader of the Progressive Conservative Party, that the Saskatchewan election results constituted a protest "against the leaders of Liberalism who... have for many years made the interests of the party rather than the interests of the state their primary concern," Senator Robertson said it seemed to him this statement came "with a peculiarly ill-grace from Mr. Bracken."

Moreover, Mr. Bracken's principal qualification for the leadership of his party was said by his own followers to be his great influence with the farmers of the west. The Saskatchewan election is the clearest possible measure of the extent of that influence.

Automatic Pilot Guides Robot Planes

LONDON (CP-Reuters)—German pilotless planes attacking Britain are jet propelled. It was stated officially here today.

Authorities said also that the plane—or pilotless bomb—is launched from a ramp and has a range of about 150 miles. Flight speed is between 300 and 350 miles an hour and the missile has an explosive power about equivalent to a 500-pound German bomb.

The Air Ministry news service said the planes are launched with the aid of a take-off rocket and are not radio controlled but are operated by an automatic pilot set before launching.

Once the missile has been launched the enemy has no subsequent control over its movements, the news service added.

Since the end of 1943 tens of thousands of tons of bombs have been dropped on the robot planes launching bases.

Photographs show extensive damage has been caused to them and this resulted in dislocation of the widespread German effort to assault Britain.

An Air Ministry statement said "other offensive measures to frustrate the enemy's plans for attacks on British cities from across the Channel" have been taken.

Killed in Italy

WITH THE CANADIAN CORPS IN ITALY (CP)—Capt. John Brophy, 33, of Ottawa and Winnipeg was injured fatally June 13 by a speeding truck which struck him while he was standing at the side of a road near Rome and then drove on without stopping.

Brophy, formerly with the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, had been adjutant for the Canadian public relations group in Italy since past January. He was the second public relations officer to lose his life in Italy.

$912,603,000 Mutual Aid Bill In Canada Last Year

Huge Amount Helps Arm Allies In War On Axis, Report Shows

By B. T. RICHARDSON
Victoria Times Correspondent
OTTAWA — Mutual aid by which Canada helps to arm her Allies in the war against the Axis has now been operating for more than a year. The first report of the mutual aid board, covering the period from May 20, 1943, to March 31, 1944, has shown in greater detail than has been available before, where Canadian supplies and munitions have been going. In that period, the board expended $912,603,000, so that the billion-dollar appropriation granted by Parliament last year was almost exhausted. The new appropriation for $800,000,000 will carry on mutual aid, including $67,000,000 for the U.N.R.R.A. following $10,000,000 out of the former.

Mutual aid, in its simplest aspect, is merely a device by which Canada produces at its own expense munitions and supplies and furnishes them to other countries for use in the war where such other countries cannot pay for them. There is a reciprocal principle involved, so that recipients of mutual aid agree to furnish supplies and services to Canada free of charge in return. But the first report on mutual aid shows that in no case has there been reciprocal aid received by Canada.

SECTOR OF EFFORT

Mutual aid represents a very important sector of the Canadian war effort. With the current war appropriation approved by Parliament, Canada will have spent on the war by March 31, 1945, more than $15,000,000,000. About $4,500,000,000 of this amount represents costs of supplies furnished to Allies both by mutual aid and other financial devices used in earlier phases of the war. This may be shown by these figures:

Aid to Britain, 1942	$1,000,000,000
Reparation	700,000,000
Interest-free loan to the United Kingdom	700,000,000
Purchase of U.K. assets in Canadian plants	200,000,000
Private reparation	100,000,000
Mutual aid, 1943	1,000,000,000
Mutual aid, 1944	800,000,000
Total	$4,500,000,000

Somewhat less than one-third of the Canadian budget costs for war, therefore, represents provision of assistance at Canadian expense for Allied countries. The chief recipient has been the United Kingdom.

BRITAIN BOUGHT MORE

In connection with aid to Britain, the mutual aid report makes abundantly clear that British ability to buy in the Canadian market has been by no means exhausted. Britain has bought more war supplies and paid for them in the past year, than Canada has furnished free of charge. The mutual aid to Britain was $723,753,000 during the period in which British purchases in Canada amounted to $1,149,000,000.

The report made by Mr. Howe, as chairman of mutual aid board, gave both a tabulation of actual goods furnished and the cost of them to Canada. The list included 42 Lancaster bombers, 102 Mosquito bombers, more than 600 other planes, mostly trainers, 551,900,000 rounds of ammunition, 2,014 universal carriers, 92, 648,000 pounds of chemicals, 17, 536,000 pounds of explosives.

39,149 Bren guns, 78,585 transport vehicles, 16,183 wireless sets, 534 landing craft, 90 vessels of 10,000 tons each, and so on. The list includes military clothing and food supplies.

To other countries, mutual aid assistance included $23,282,000 to Russia, $20,959,000 to Australia and $4,101,587 to China. Other destinations were $874,000 to the West Indies, representing flour only, and $482,000 to India, representing wheat only. The flow of war goods on mutual aid basis to Russia, Australia and China is increasing and shipments substantially exceed the figure given by Mr. Howe, which showed only accounts paid by March 31. Substantial mutual aid orders being filled for the French Committee of National Liberation will be shown in accounts for the present year.

REPRESENT EMPLOYMENT

All of these accounts, though paid for out of the Canadian treasury, represent substantial wartime employment created in Canada. Mr. Howe's report provided the first detailed account of how consultations are carried out with British and American strategic and economic authorities in deciding where Canadian mutual aid will be sent.

The Canadian system is closely correlated with U.S. lend-lease to prevent overlapping and to safeguard the best strategic necessities of the United Nations. The Canadian chiefs of staff consider and decide on the military need of supplies requested by countries applying for mutual aid. The department of finance and the department of external affairs are heard, respectively, on the domestic problems involved and the aspects of international policy affected.

The entire production responsibility of munitions and military supplies rests with the department of munitions and supply, but in the case of foodstuffs both the department of agriculture and the department of fisheries are consulted.

'People's Platform' Need of Republicans Poll Discloses

By AMERICAN INSTITUTE OF PUBLIC OPINION

PRINCETON, N.J. — When the Republican National Convention meets next Monday in Chicago, one of its important tasks—aside from the all-important job of nominating candidates—will be to adopt a party platform.

The resolutions committee of the Republican Convention, slated to convene this Wednesday to begin hearings on the platform to be recommended to the convention, may thus be interested in a Gallup survey conducted throughout the nation during recent days.

The results of this survey provide in effect a "people's platform" for the Republican Party. It will be interesting to compare the platform finally adopted by the convention with the platform which emerged when Republican voters in all 48 states were asked:

"Is there any particular idea or plank which you would like your party to include in its party platform for the coming presidential election?"

Tabulation of the replies given to field reporters in this survey emphasizes one fact of particular interest: Republican voters are far more interested in domestic problems than in international problems. Three out of every four suggestions made deal with home front problems.

Here are the suggestions—in addition to the obvious pledge of support of the war—given by Republican voters to field reporters for the Gallup Poll in all parts of the U.S.

1. A pledge to eliminate wasteful non-war spending, and to pare down the total tax bill.
2. A plank urging stricter control of labor unions and a stop to wartime strikes.
3. A pledge to take steps to maintain a high level of post-war prosperity and jobs after the war, especially for returning soldiers, and that bonuses for soldiers and aid for disabled veterans be provided.
4. A stand against any extensions of federal control, and a pledge to cut down on federal control wherever possible.
5. Co-operation with other nations in enforcing peace through some sort of world union after this war.
6. A plank pledging against a third term for any future president.

Canada D-Day Dead Honored at Service In Normandy Cemetery

By WILLIAM STEWART
WITH THE CANADIAN FORCES IN FRANCE (CP)—On a wind-swept square of sandy soil overlooking the sea a memorial service was held Sunday for men of the Canadian assault force who died in the D-Day attack on the beaches of Normandy.

The service was in a temporary graveyard where a few British and German dead also are buried. It was sponsored by officers and men of a British beach group as a tribute to the Canadians.

Prayers were said by a honorary British captain who stood in battle dress, bareheaded, in a roped-off enclosure of the little burial ground. A British padre in cassock and white surplice conducted the Protestant service and in the absence of a Jewish chaplain, read a prayer for two Jewish soldiers buried there.

A little group of French civilians from a nearby town, through which the assault troops fought their way, stood outside the enclosure to one side of the troops, and at the end of the service placed flowers at the foot of the white crosses on the graves.

Honorary Major J. M. Malone, Edmonton, thanked the British troops for their gesture. He told them the Canadian troops fighting in France were from all parts of Canada and though those who died did not know of their success "it is owing to their sacrifice that we now are able to make further effort."

2 Severe Tremors

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Two severe earthquakes, both lasting several seconds, jolted Los Angeles and neighboring cities Sunday evening but caused no material damage or loss of life. The first was recorded at 5:03, the second at 8:05 p.m.

Both shocks were believed to have emanated from the Inglewood Fault, which extends southward into Mexico. Burglar alarms were set off by the tremors in some sections, residents ran into the streets, windows were rattled and stocks in some stores were thrown to the floor.

Allies Approve Bonomi Cabinet

ROME (AP)—The Allied governments, after delaying a week, have approved the cabinet formed by Premier Ivanhoe Bonomi at the request of Prince Humbert, and it now has begun to function as Italy's new government, it was announced today.

The Allies insisted the new government assume all responsibilities undertaken by the former government headed by Marshal Pietro Badoglio regarding the fulfillment of the terms of the Italian armistice, and make no change in the monarchial institution.

Fighter Ace Missing Since Invasion Day

AURORA, Ont. (CP)—Wing Cmdr. Lloyd V. Chadburn, D.S.G. and Bar, D.F.C., one of Canada's most decorated fighter pilots, has been officially reported missing since he led the first assault of fighter planes over France on Invasion day, June 6, his mother, Mrs. Frank Allen, said here Sunday.

Chadburn was born in Montreal 24 years ago. He received his wings at Uplands, near Ottawa, in the fall of 1940 and went overseas first in November the same year.

13 Dead in N.B. After Taking Drinks Of Methyl Alcohol

SAINT JOHN, N.B. (CP)—

Four men and a woman died during the week-end, bringing to 13 the total of fatalities from the drinking of methyl alcohol here. An inquest will be held tonight.

The woman, Mrs. Julia Ewart of this city, died late Saturday, and her husband, Henry B. Ewart, was later admitted to a hospital and his condition was said to be serious.

The alcohol, part of a shipment going overseas for the Canadian Red Cross, was said by authorities to have disappeared from a shed on the waterfront at West Saint John early Friday. Most of the victims were stevedores.

Police are still searching for about 25 gallons of the alcohol, so far not accounted for. Every available police officer was thrown into the search of the premises of all persons known to be or suspected of being active in any way in bootlegging. Sixteen persons were still in hospital and some of them were in a serious condition.

The dead: A. Norton MacLaren, Arthur Perry, Lawrence Gautreau, Richard Thorne, Ferdinand Henderson, Mrs. Julia Ewart, George Humphrey, Edward Humphrey (brothers), Donald Smith, all of Saint John; Laurence W. Gibson, Fairville; Murray Proctor, St. Martin's, and Y. Sataya, an East Indian seaman, and D. Laurence McKay, Lancaster Vale, a Saint John suburb.

At the General Hospital two "iron lungs" were brought into use to save the lives of some of the more seriously affected. Many still seemed to doubt the fact the alcohol, when taken internally, had such a disastrous effect and consequently the police patrol wagon and the ambulance were kept busy rushing persons to the hospital.

BRITISH COLUMBIA'S LARGEST MANUFACTURING INDUSTRY

The significance of the Pulp and Paper Industry in British Columbia's economic development has long been manifest. Since the turn of the century, when operations were first started, the Industry has expanded year by year until now its capital investment exceeds that of any other manufacturing industry in the Province. The total capital investment of the Pulp and Paper Industry in British Columbia in 1943 was $70,586,999.00.

This great investment means direct permanent employment for many thousands of B.C. workers engaged in the mills and woods operations—sure markets for our farmers and fishermen—steady employment for additional thousands of workers supplying the numerous products and services required by the Industry.

SOME SORTING OUT NEEDED

ONE OF THE LESSONS WHICH THE result of the Saskatchewan elections should drive home to the people of this country is that public business can be transacted much more efficiently under the traditional British two-party system than by a multiplicity of political bodies, the philosophies of some of which have only a name to distinguish them. In the past, of course, the province which decided to change its government last Thursday has had too many administrations with top-heavy majorities. What benefits would have accrued to the people responsible for that condition if parliamentary voting strength had been more evenly divided is purely an academic question. Nor is this reference intended to imply that Premier-elect Douglas will find his overwhelming following in the next Legislature either too embarrassing to himself or prone to sanction legislation with more impractical idealism than even the C.C.F. philosophy so far has envisioned. It is, on the other hand, to suggest that if, to use overworked terms, the political divisions of the future are to be of the Right and the Left, the nation's business in all its ramifications will be better conducted by more evenly-balanced Parliaments.

None would be so foolish as to argue that either or both of the two older parties have a monopoly on the brains of the nation. Too much evidence is apparent to prove otherwise. We nevertheless submit that the time may be fast approaching when public men and women who subscribe to what goes by the name of Liberalism and Conservatism will find it to their own and the country's advantage to examine the basic differences, if any, which keep them in hostile political and parliamentary camps. The province of British Columbia has witnessed a beginning of this type of introspective examination; it has found practical expression in the coalition government of which Mr. Hart has every reason to be proud and which, by all odds, has acquitted itself so far better than any of its predecessors. As we have already contended, it has one more step to go to give it permanent stability; it must officially solemnize the marriage it contracted under the "common law" of political expediency at the beginning of the present Parliament. What we and thousands of other citizens are worried about in this regard is the fear that there shall emerge in Canada a multiplicity of "movements" and organizations of special pleaders that eventually will throw up a mixture of groups in Parliament and in the Legislatures. None will argue that such a condition would be conducive to the good government of the nation or its component legislative parts. And one has only to hark back to the effect produced after the first Great War in Germany and France by a dozen or more blocs in the Reichstag and in the Chamber of Deputies to visualize what could happen here. Honest government and sound leadership, in our opinion, can best be assured for this Dominion by the old and tried British system of two parties with clearly-defined objectives. Only by intelligent trial and error which this process facilitates can the will of the majority be assured.

CBC BUNGLING

THIS AND OTHER DAILY NEWSPAPERS of British Columbia last Saturday published the announcement that Mr. L. W. Brockington, K.C., would treat radio listeners of this country to his eye-witness impression of the invasion of Normandy. Knowing and appreciating the eloquent artistry which this brilliant Canadian always imparts to his word pictures, an expectant public naturally had tuned Sunday in at the advertised time—4.30 p.m. All the $2.50 subscribers to the big money-making CBC got was "In the Spotlight." But no Mr. Brockington was in that "spotlight." Nor did the Vancouver regional office of the nationally-owned corporation—which issued the announcement in the first place—explain that the broadcast for which thousands had waited would not be heard until an hour later. Who bungled this time?

IT ALL DEPENDS ON ME

TO SAY THAT THE RESPONSIBILITY of preparing for the return of service personnel to civilian life belongs to every member of Parliament and every political party is to emphasize what ought to be obvious to all Canadians who owe their freedom to their fighting compatriots. It was fitting, too, that Hon. Jan Mackenzie, Minister of Pensions and National Health, should have said after the second reading of the bill to establish a veterans' affairs department that the government was ready to accept any reasonable and constructive changes in its re-establishment and rehabilitation programs. And Progressive Conservative House Leader Gordon Graydon did well to remind his fellow members that the "meshing" of the returning men and women into the social and economic life of the country would be no easy task, but at the same time it would be made a little easier if all citizens did their part.

When Canada declared war against Germany in the early days of September nearly five years ago the spirit and will of the nation had no regard for political manoeuvre with, of course, one or two exceptions. A challenge had been hurled at the free peoples of the world by a new tyrant whose principal aim in life was to enslave all who would not accede to his demands. If Canada—along with the rest of the British family of nations—could find the determination and financial wherewithal to call Hitler's bluff, which she did, surely a proportionate measure of this determination and financial wherewithal can be recruited in the interest of practical rehabilitation in every sense of the term. This is not, or it should not be so regarded, a party problem—a political football. The whole future, the future not only of the men who will return from battle, but the future of the rising generation, depends upon how governments and all those whose servants they are conduct themselves in the coming days.

Let there be no mistake about one important point: Young men and young women who have donned the uniform because they felt it was their duty so to do are not intending to come back to a Canada that can do no better for her fighting sons and daughters than the country did after the first Great War. They are thinking more about the problems of the future because many of them experienced some of the bitter fruits of past mistakes. And it ought to be realized that they have sufficient intelligence to compare the boasts—pardonable boasts, to be sure—of what their country has provided in the way of material and financial resources to wage the nation's share of the war with what may seem to them niggardly provisions for an economy calculated to establish and maintain domestic peace and contentment. Here lies the main reason why every Canadian must accept his and her share of the obligation inherent in the process of effectual rehabilitation. Governments can and will do no more than the people order them to do.

ANOTHER DUD?

SO GERMANY'S ROBOT PLANE IS Adolf Hitler's "secret weapon." Here was the contrivance that would supply the answer to all the schemes on which the Allied command in Great Britain had devoted months of preparation. Here was a device that would make up for the complete failure of the Fuehrer's submarine campaign. Here was something that would level the cities and towns and villages and industries of the British Isles to the flatness of a pancake in short order. True, this piece of flying explosive is a nasty bit of business; and it had been expected for months past. That is the reason why its point of origin in the Calais area has attracted so much attention from the heavy bombers of the Allied air commands. But the robot plane, after all, is more or less a wild hit-or-miss contraption with limited range and effect.

There is nothing secret in an invasion of one country by the armies of another. It is as old as military history. The only point about the present operations in Normandy that possessed the element of secrecy was where it would begin and when it would begin. Hitler's contribution to the preliminaries to that part of the business now succeeding so well was the persistent boast that the "West Wall" was absolutely impregnable. Now the Herr Doktor Goebbels and Nazi spokesmen are feverishly trying to convince the German people that nobody ever considered the Atlantic coastline defences foolproof. There is little else they can do. The next order of business for the German apologists is to prepare the Nazi public for the failure of the robot plane. For it obviously has no startling military value; and the people of southern England are rather priding themselves that it has recalled the days of the Battle of Britain and put them in the firing line again.

CURTAINS FOR FINLAND?

FINLAND'S PREMIER HAS ORDERED Finnish troops to stand to the end against the oncoming Russians. How the soldiers of this Scandinavian republic feel about an instruction of that kind is an interesting speculation. None doubts their bravery or belief in their country's cause; the majority of them obviously remember the nation's capitulation after the war of 1939-40, and have hoped against hope that their fighting association with the Nazis would enable them to exact their full revenge through a German victory. Some perhaps had ideas of adding new territory to their own domain. Their pro-Nazi commander-in-chief, Baron Gustav von Mannerheim, very likely believed in the promises of his ally in Berlin. Before many more days have passed, however, he, like many another opportunist who had banked on the inevitability of the Wehrmacht, will meet the full flood of his disillusionment.

Two developments during the last few days probably have caused some of the Finnish soldiery, as well as a substantial element of the population, to doubt the wisdom of refusing the peace terms to which Moscow had consented. One is the action of the United States in politely asking Helsinki's minister to Washington to pack up and go home as quickly as possible—because of actions "inimical to the interests of the United States." The other is a persistent report that Austrian and German troops in the north of Nazi-dominated Finland have remembered old enmities and are conducting a miniature war on their own account. Meanwhile, the Red Army is pushing relentlessly on toward Viipuri, repeating the operation which ended the Russo-Finnish war of a little more than four years ago.

It will be a dark day for Hitler and Tojo when the lights go on again all over the world.

The fall of Rome was ancient history within hours of the first invasion flash. It was a case of the Eternal City becoming the Forgotten City.

Loose Ends

HIGH SCHOOL GRADUATES

I RECALL THE excitement, too many years ago, on the day of graduation from high school. There was a feeling of now I am a man. We were stepping out and stepping high. It was back in the days when the "go-getter" was a popular figure, when the "self-made man" was a hero to young boys. We would make our own world.

I have just attended my son's graduation and I wondered about these boys. Two were leaving for the navy immediately; some in a few weeks would be in the army or the navy. A few were going to college for eight or nine months until they would be drafted. And they wondered for how long and what they would do afterward. They were puzzled—and if the truth were known, perhaps not a little frightened. Their way was not clear ahead. They were being graduated into a war.

It took lots of courage for these youngsters to stick to their books and to come through with high marks and cum laude and all that. And it will take even more courage for the seventeen-year-olds to wait until they are 18.

These boys sang to the music of the hymn in Beethoven's Ninth Symphony the poem of one of their classmates—but written two years ago—a poem of hope and assurance not in self but in God. No adult could have expressed more accurately what these boys feel so deeply:

"Let us all now come together
Raise our voices praising Thee.
Thou who mad'st the briar and heather
Who control'st the deep blue sea,
Reign'st above the restless wave,
Standest guard o'er all the world,
Lest man rest in holy grace
Or to depths of Hell be hurled.
Thou whose Son from Heaven descended,
All our sins didst overwhelm:
Once again to Thee ascending,
Rules o'er all Thy starry realm.
God our Father, now protect us.
That we may by Thee abide.
'Neath Thy sheltering hand collect us.
Mercy to men far and wide."

I HEARD THIS same boy who spoke of his colleagues as "we who are the present of the nation" plead for justice and tolerance and against cynicism. That is the world they want. And that is not the world that we adults—we, who are the past of the nation—gave them. We hate. These boys do not hate. They only know what a messy thing we have made of their lives, and they wonder why.

When there is so much being said and written about juvenile delinquency and pin-up girls and war marriages and divorces, it is refreshing to come close to boys graduating from high school into war who turn to morality and religion.

"Neath Thy sheltering hand collect us,
Mercy to men far and wide."

And as long as boys and girls in their teens feel that way about their world, we need not be depressed about our nation, for we are preparing a wholesome leadership for the future. Only those who have no faith despair.

And so thousands of them will go out into this world. And they cannot understand what they are being called upon to fight for when the Atlantic Charter, which they were taught would save the world, dies while the war is still to be fought, and when they were taught to believe that nationalism is an evil that has made their war.

(Nevertheless, they continue to have faith in their God and in their country, and perhaps more in themselves than they now can know. And that faith will save us and them.)

—G. S.

FOR THE INFANTRY—THE FINAL PUNCH

As the great invasion develops, aided, of course, by the courage and skill of all the armed services, the infantryman's part in it will be brought home to all in the pain of the casualty lists. To carry the battle to the enemy individually, as the infantryman must do, means more than ordinary exposure to all the dangers of combat.

Cited are the results of battle to prove the case for the infantryman. In the north African and Italian campaigns, 70 per cent of the casualties were suffered by the infantry, although it constituted only 19.8 per cent of the forces involved. In the southwest Pacific, with 15 per cent of the total strength, the infantry's casualties have been 26 per cent of the total. In all theatres combined, the respective percentages are 25 and 50.

The infantryman has brilliant support from the air force, the armored forces and the navy. But when the last punch is to be delivered, when ground works are to be occupied and held, he will do the job.

By DONALD A. FRASER

When King David returned from one of his warring expeditions, 3,000 years ago, he wrote a "Song of Thanksgiving to God for Victory."

PSALM CXXIV

A Song of Ascents of David

Latin Title—Nisi Quia Dominus

"If that the Lord had not been on our side,
Let Israel in truth now say,
"If that the Lord had not been on our side,
When men against us formed array,
Then had they swallowed us alive.
When wrath against us did revive;
The floods would then all o'er us drive;
The stream-waves welling o'er us roll;
The waters proud o'erwhelm our Soul!"

"Oh, blessed be Jehovah!" let us say,
"Who to their teeth hath not made us a prey!"

Our Soul's escaped—a bird from fowler's snare;
The snare is left; we forth to Freedom fare!

Our help is in Jehovah's Name,
Who did the Earth and Heavens frame!
—The Psalms Resung.

Today's WAR NEWS Analysis

By J. M. ROBERTS JR.

Associated Press War Analyst
The fateful fortnight which has encompassed Allied plans and fears for more than two years ends tonight, and the Germans have failed to mount either the beachhead defence or the massive counterattack which had been expected.

A comparatively small Allied initial force, harassed by unseasonably bad weather which interfered with both reinforcement and supply, has engaged approximately one-fourth of the estimated German strength in France and found it only a hindrance.

As the fortnight ends during which we expected to learn whether the beachhead would be secure, we do learn, and it is.

A PRETTY PENNY

From Illinois State Journal And Register
Substantial and unassuming, the friendly copper penny has returned to replace its anemic brother, the white cent.

Classified these many years as small change and chicken feed, the copper penny was not fully appreciated until the inferior white pennies began encroaching on its ancient domain like white top in the pasture or nettles in the corn.

Few coins have lent themselves more admirably by making wrong change than has the war and equivalent white cent. Resembling the mongrel offspring of a rakish dime and a fallen penny, it has deceived the unsuspecting and embarrassed the innocent.

Now the Treasury Department is turning out copper pennies again. In a time of doubt, unrest and confusion, the comeback of the copper penny is reassuring.

FRENCH BEANS, GREEN PEAS AT $2.25 A POUND

From London Star

"During a quick look around the shops I found that there is no lack of variety of fruit and vegetables—for those who are willing to pay for it. I saw French beans at 4s. 6d. to 10s. 6d. a pound; young green peas at 10s. 6d. early marrows from 7s. 6d. upwards, English peaches at from 4s. 6d. to nearly a pound apiece, and melons at about 30s. Lettuce—certainly they were good ones—ranged from 1s. to 2s. or more. Prices of all these things are uncontrolled, and there is no intention of controlling them. "The quantity is so negligible that it would not be economic," I was told. "Shoppers have the matter in their own hands. If nobody bought any of these things for a month—or even a week—prices would soon come down."

STILL LOST!

From London Sunday Dispatch
"I'm lost, buddy," said a dough-boy who was wandering around in the Highlands. "Is there a reward out for ye?" asked Sandy. "Why, no." "Then ye're still lost," said Sandy.

AND SOME OLDER ONES, ALAS!

From Edmonton Journal
Among the latest things in men's clothes are young women.

Not only that, but the campaign for capture of a great port, through which reinforcements can flow by the tens of thousands rather than the hundreds possible on the open beach, moves, truly according to plan. Word from the Cherbourg peninsula is that U.S. units crossed to the western shore through the very points, along the very country roads, as envisaged long ago in the offices of the planners.

There may not be any refugees from Sevastopol—there weren't many, anyway—at Cherbourg, but there are 25,000 to 30,000 Germans there, the reports say, who are about to learn the same lesson. The fate of the German 77th Division, which battered itself into small pieces against the Allied line in an effort to escape, is sufficient harbinger of that.

A plumper fish was caught at Dunnville the other day. That may not be the scientific name of the fish, but the captured specimen, which was only four feet in length, had a bill about 18 inches long.

THIS WAR—4 YEARS AGO

JUNE 19, 1940 — German troops crossed the Loire River in France and occupied Brest, St. Nazaire and Cherbourg as Petain cabinet named plenipotentiaries to receive Axis armistice terms. Interior Minister Pomaret repudiated Gen. de Gaulle, who was rallying French resistance from Britain.

DR. CHARLES PEAKER IN IMPRESSIVE RECITAL

Under the auspices of the Victoria Chapter of the Toronto Conservatory Alumni Association and the Victoria Music Teachers, Dr. Charles Peaker, F.R.C.O., vice-principal of the Toronto Conservatory of Music, gave a recital on the organ of the Metropolitan Church Saturday evening, before an appreciative audience.

Dr. Peaker ranks among the foremost of Canadian organists, and has added to the attributes

RECTAL SORENESS AND PILE TORTURE QUICKLY RELIEVED

If you are troubled with itching piles or rectal soreness, do not delay treatment and run the risk of letting this condition become chronic. Any itching or soreness or painful passage of stool is nature's warning and proper treatment should be secured at once.

For this purpose get a package of Hem-Roid from Modern Pharmacy and Cunningham Drug Stores, or any drugist, and use as directed. This formula which is used internally is a small, easy to take tablet, will quickly relieve the itching and soreness and aid in healing the sore tender spots. Hem-Roid is pleasant to use, is highly recommended and it seems the height of folly for any one to risk a painful and chronic pile condition when such a fine remedy may be had at such a small cost.

If you try Hem-Roid and are not entirely pleased with the results, your drugist will gladly return your money.

of a great organist that of a first-rate concert artist. His style is authoritative and is characterized by clarity and brilliance.

The program opened with "Air With Variations," by Joseph Bonnet—a most effective work—one of the variations being written for pedal alone. This was followed by the poetic "Canzone" in A minor, by Karg-Elert; its beauty enhanced by deft registration. In sharp contrast came Bach's vital and dazzling D major Prelude and Fugue. Also by Bach two tiny pieces for Clavichord, "If Thou Be Near" played with poignant effect, and two intimate Chorale Preludes "We All Believe in One God" and "Our Father Which Art in Heaven."

Two numbers given by special request were the hauntingly beautiful Fugue in C minor by Honegger, played with rich and subtle tone color, and the stirring Trumpet Tune by Purcell.

Bach's gay "Jig" Fugue completed this notable recital.

Dr. Peaker's short program notes added interest to the pieces played.

Dr. A. E. Whitehouse introduced the artist, and at the conclusion of the recital expressed the thanks of those present to Dr. Peaker.

With Our Servicemen

By DICK FREEMAN

Pte. J. P. Thomas, paratrooper, was wounded in action June 12, necessitating amputation of the right hand and part of the left, according to word received by his wife, Mrs. Mary E. Thomas, 871 Third Street, Sidney. They have two children, Laverne and Joseph.

He is the son of W. A. Thomas, 1322 Third Street, Sidney. Pte. Thomas had been overseas with his corps for a year.

Sgt. W. A. Paterson has been wounded in France, according to word received by his mother, Mrs. E. Liddell, 2776 Burdick Avenue. He was a sergeant in the militia before the outbreak of war and went with his battalion to Debert, N.S., in 1940. He went to England in September, 1941, was married in December, 1943 to Ida Jellitt of Worthing, Eng. No details of his wounds have been received. His mother and many of his friends believe that it was Sgt. Paterson who was being carried ashore on a stretcher in the first picture received from overseas of casualties of the French invasion.

Pte. Basil M. Halhed, 24, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Halhed, Chemainus, was killed in action in Italy May 23. He enlisted with a Scottish unit, trained on the west and east coasts before going overseas, was stationed in England for more than a year, saw action in both Sicily and Italy. Before enlistment Halhed was employed at the Ladysmith and Nanaimo branches of the Canadian Bank of Commerce. His wife and infant daughter are in England.

Lt. Jeffrey Wilson Raven, third son of Mr. and Mrs. S. Wilson Raven, 6 Normar Court, Esquimalt, recently graduated from Sandhurst Royal Military College in England. Born in Ottawa in 1917, Raven came to Victoria in 1918, was educated at South Park and Victoria High Schools. He was employed by the Cameron Lumber Company before going overseas in 1940 with the Canadian Forestry Corps, transferring to the Canadian Armored Corps in June, 1943. An elder brother, Sgt. J. L. Watson Raven, is with the R.C.A.S.C., stationed at Port Alberni.

Kenneth W. Cleghorn, R.C.N., acting radio artificer 4th class, is serving on H.M.C.S. Prince David, which played an important part in the invasion of France. Cleghorn joined the navy three and a half years ago and after serving at coast navy establishments, left for England. His wife and two-year-old son live at 310 Huntington Place.

Economic Security Expected By Veterans

Warning that returned men could not be expected to believe the country unable to provide them with economic security after the war in view of the tremendous sums they had seen expended in the prosecution of the war, was issued by Robert Knight, first vice-president of the provincial command of the Canadian Legion, in a short talk sponsored by the Welcome Club during an intermission in the band concert in Beacon Hill Park Sunday afternoon.

"The fighting forces are very properly looking to the people at home to see that when they return it will be to a country worthy of their magnificent courage, their unstinting sacrifice and the ideals for which they are fighting," he said.

He asked for returned men: A monthly income until they were established in civilian life; disability pensions for disablement from any cause whatever while serving, regardless of where they had served; financial assistance, including interest-free loans; and free medical and hospitalization services.

"We, the veterans," he concluded, "have offered our services and our lives for democracy. May that offering be not in vain."

B.C. Men Experts

By FLT. LT. BOB FRANCIS, R.C.A.F.

WITH BRITISH AIRBORNE FORCES (C.P.)—A veteran pilot of the First Great War, whose name is not given, started Britain's airborne training with a parachute maker as adviser. He got an old bomber, cut a hole in the floor, attached static lines and spilled dummies earthward. Most of the transport pilots were former bomber men.

The men learned before D-Day to set free a fully-loaded glider instead of a stick of bomb when they found themselves over a target. The bomb-aimers who became glider-releasers, learned to be as precise about their new jobs as if they were sending a shower of incendiaries on Berlin.

Here are some of the Canadians who took part: Sgt. T. M. Stewart, Nanaimo, B.C.; Sgt. T. C. Healy, New Westminster, B.C.; Sgt. J. Buzza, Vancouver; Sgt. John Stewart, Powell River, B.C.; FO. W. M. Deacon, Mission City, B.C.; FO. Frank Darling, FO. J. H. McDowell and FO. D. W. Smith, Vancouver; FO. Alex Kayk, Keewatin, Ont.; Sgt. H. L. Ferguson, Blackfolds, Alta.

No Blame Attached To Army Driver

A verdict of accidental death with no blame attached to the driver was returned at the coroner's inquest Saturday afternoon on the deaths of Andre Gagnon, 14, and Robin Slim, 13, who died of injuries received when struck by an army vehicle while they were on their way to school in Esquimalt June 8.

Sgt. C. J. L. Wigley, driver of the truck, one of the 16 witnesses called, broke down momentarily as he came to the part of his evidence in which he said the truck hit the boys.

He had been driving about 25 miles per hour, he said, when on crossing the intersection at Lampson and Lyall Streets, the truck had seemed to "dive down to the left," in the direction of the two boys.

He had wrestled with the wheel, he said, and jammed on the footbrakes, keeping his foot down until the truck finally came to rest on a lawn.

Cpl. Thomas Bell, R.C.A.S.C., army motor mechanic, and W. Rutherford, civilian motor mechanic, who both examined the truck after the accident, said the main-leaf of the left front spring, in which there was a flaw, had broken and severed the hydraulic brake pipe lines, leaving the vehicle without brakes and jamming the steering apparatus so the truck could not be turned.

They said the flaw, which went 70 per cent of the way across the leaf, would not have been discernible in a check-over.

Maj. R. McDonald, R.C.E., president of the military court of inquiry into the accident, said he had made a survey of the road and found the crown at Lampson and Lyall Streets was 14 inches, a normal crown being between 3½ and 6½ inches, he said. In addition, he said, such a crown would heave a truck sufficiently to break a spring in which there might be a flaw.

CSM. G. A. Campbell, R.C.A.S.C., in charge of vehicles and personnel at the unit responsible for checking the trucks, described in detail the checks made before they were allowed to go on the road, including a check three times a day, another every 1,000 miles, and a 5,000-mile check.

In addition to that, he said, Ottawa experts had checked all the trucks including that driven by Sgt. Wigley only two days before the accident.

In his opinion, he said, there was not a better or safer checking system in the world than that used by the Canadian army.

Capt. W. W. Melville, transport officer and O.C. of the unit, gave evidence that Sgt. Wigley was "a most capable driver in every way."

Pte. Wismer, C.W.A.C., who was accompanying the sergeant in the front seat, gave evidence Wigley had done all he could to avert the tragedy and had succeeded in wrestling the damaged steering gear over sufficiently to put the course of the truck over a few inches which swerved it past the walls of the house.

Dr. E. C. Hart, city coroner, complimented the jury on reach-

Colorful Segura Wins U.S. Clay Court Net Title

DETROIT (AP)—Francisco

(Pancho) Segura, Ecuador's tennis ambassador, captured his second United States title Sunday by defeating Billy Talbert of Indianapolis, 6-3, 2-6, 7-5, 6-3, in the finals of the national clay court championship at the Detroit Tennis Club.

The colorful little fellow from Coral Gables, Fla., who soon hopes to make a successful defence of his national inter-collegiate crown, rallied spectacularly in the third set while beating Talbert for the fifth successive time. He now holds a 7 to 1 margin over Talbert in tournament play.

Segura will be 23 years old Tuesday at Cincinnati, where he will play in the tri-state tournament.

By winning, Segura became the 19th player in 34 years to hold the clay title. Billy Talbert is a seven-time former winner. Segura succeeds Seymour Greenberg of Chicago, two-time champion who now is in the armed forces.

ALSO WINS DOUBLES
Segura and Talbert combined to win the men's doubles title, defeating Hubert Manire and Hobart Wrobel of Detroit, 6-1, 6-2, 5-7, 6-1.

Pauline Betz of Los Angeles, who was dethroned in women's singles by Dorothy May Bundy of Santa Monica, Calif., came back with Doris Hart of Miami, Fla., to take the doubles crown. They defeated May Arnold of Los Angeles and Catherine Wold of Elkhart, Ind., 8-6, 6-3.

POST-WAR PLANS for Her Begin at Home

YOUR wife is just as much concerned about post-war planning as anyone. But she thinks in terms of her home and family now.

She wants security, but she must rely on you alone to guard against the hazards that threaten it.

What assurance has she that the family will have money to buy the necessities of life if you are taken from them? Life insurance provides a means by which you can guarantee to them a continuing income.

To provide this security in any other way is quite impossible for most husbands. To do it through systematic and regular life insurance premiums is both practical and sure.

PIERCY-CORKLE

Myrtle Hjerret, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Corkle, 2887 Inlet Drive, was united in marriage Saturday afternoon at 3 in Gorge Presbyterian Church to Reginald Campbell Piercy, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Piercy, 2846 Austin Avenue. Rev. T. H. McAllister read the service.

The bride was given away by her father and chose a floor-length frock of white sheer, fashioned with long full sleeves. Her fingertip veil was arranged from a halo of lace caught over each ear with clusters of orange blossoms. She carried an all-white bouquet of Iceland poppies, roses and snapdragons. Twin frocks of powder blue crepe were worn by the bridesmaids, Miss Norma Corkle with a matching bandeau in her hair, and Miss Joan Woolley, fresh flowers catching a nose veil atop her head. The bride's sister carried a Colonial posy of pink sweet peas, white daisies and Talisman roses, while Miss Woolley carried pale blue larkspur and mauve sweet peas.

Alec Murray was best man, and ushering were Alfred Peat and David Fanthorpe. The choir was in attendance and Mrs. F. Holmes was at the organ. D. R. Park sang "All Joy Be Thine."

A reception was held at the home of the bride's uncle, George Corkle, Gorge Road, where mothers of the couple welcomed the guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Piercy left for a honeymoon up-island, the bride wearing a figured jersey silk dressmaker suit with white accessories and a corsage bouquet of gardenias. They will reside at Sooke.

400 Attend Red Cross Fete At Royal Roads

Four hundred guests attended the garden party held at the Royal Canadian Naval College Saturday afternoon when the Belmont Unit of the Canadian Red Cross realized the sum of $475. Included in this sum was a donation of $100 from an Ontario visitor.

Permission for the fete was given by Capt. G. M. Grant, R.C.N., officer commanding, who with the following officers co-operated with the Belmont Unit: Cmdr. K. G. B. Ketchum, R.C.N.V.R.; Lt. Cmdr. Genge, Lt. Cmdr. G. H. Davidson, R.C.N.; Lieut. Huntingdon, R.C.N.V.R.; Pay-Lt. Buie, R.C.N.V.R., and Commissioned Boatwain Mason.

Heading the Belmont committee were Messrs. G. A. Turner, W. E. Stevenson and Mesdames P. N. Welch and D. B. F. Bullen.

An interesting display of physical training was given by the cadets under the direction of Lt. Cmdr. G. H. Davidson, R.C.N. Night action, similar to that of the Allied action in the Bay of Biscay when the German destroyers were sunk, was carried out in the gun battery.

Afternoon tea was served on the terrace under the convalescence of Mrs. B. W. Parker and Sub-Lt. George, with the R.C.N. band in the background. Members of Goldwood Women's Institute and Wrens assisted.

Have Nazis Run Off With Historic Tapestry?

Reproduction of part of the famous Bayeux tapestry.

By ALLAN JENKINS

Historic city of Bayeux, on the invasion coast of Normandy, was one of the first cities of any size to fall before the Allied onslaught. Many news photos of invasion barges and well-equipped troops have been seen by the Allied peoples throughout the world, and these photos will undoubtedly go down in history to record the historic events of that invasion.

From that same city of Bayeux, nearly 900 years ago, came another pictorial record of another invasion that changed the course of the world.

From the coast of Normandy in 1066, came armed troops, carrying swords instead of guns, and landing craft carrying horses instead of tanks.

William, Duke of Normandy, raging at the betrayal of a promise made to him by the English king, Harold, flung his well-armed troops against the shores of England, from where many hundreds of years later, the descendants of those troops were to return in overwhelming force to invade the country of their origin.

Pictorial record of that notable invasion was also kept for posterity. No planes flew from the battlefield; no radios flashed pictures across the world so people might see scenes of war a day after they had occurred.

Instead, Mathilde wife of William, with her ladies of the court, spent many years with needle in hand recording the scenes. When they had finished, the Bayeux tapestry was presented to the world.

In its own way, the tapestry is as faithful a pictorial record of that early invasion as anything we present for posterity concerning our modern one.

The picture above is a portion of a colored reproduction taken from one of the last publications of the Paris magazine, L'Illustration, printed in that city in Dec., 1939, just a few months before the Germans overran the city.

The copy of the magazine is owned by Hon. Mark Kearley of "Windy Oaks," Metochin, who kindly lent it to the Daily Times with the suggestion for this story. He and his family spent many years on the continent and know well the district from which the Normans came.

In the picture above, fighting men can be seen approaching the invasion coast in their ships; men are seen as they fell mortally wounded, and victor and vanquished are shown in the lower portion of the bottom tapestry, where it is seen the treatment of the dead was somewhat more rude than that given in our modern days.

But over all, it can be seen the ways of invasions have not altered much in their basic aspects.

Where this historical Bayeux tapestry is now is a mystery that worries lovers of history and its priceless antiques. It is generally believed the Germans have stolen it. Perhaps, at the time, the Nazi Third Reich was indulging in a little wishful thinking in regard to invasions.

If the Germans do have the tapestry now, it should not be too long before it is returned to Bayeux Cathedral, where it was consecrated in 1077.

and M. Wilkinson, Mrs. D. Dolby and Mrs. M. Fair were the general conveners.

Officers of Princess Patricia Lodge No. 238 were installed by District Deputy Mrs. C. Restell. They included: President, Mrs. E. Morrish; vice-president, Mrs. K. Cambray; first conductor, Miss J. Morrish; second conductor, Miss E. Brethour; inside guard, Mrs. E. Tapley; outside guard, Miss E. Brown. Plans for a memorial service to be held jointly with Lodge No. 83 June 25 in the S.O.E. Hall at 2:30 were completed. A shower of razor blades for servicemen will be held at the next social meeting. Servicemen will be entertained at a dance following the next meeting in the S.O.E. Hall.

PROTECTION AGAINST SUNBURN IS ESSENTIAL

By MARY BEARD
Director, Nursing Service, Red Cross

I overheard two girls talking the other day about their desire for a sun tan. Said one, "If it's a nice day on Saturday I'm going to put on my bathing suit and spend the whole afternoon on a blanket in the back yard."

If this plan was carried out, there probably were two badly burned and suffering young ladies in the neighborhood that night. The home nurse should restrain the over-enthusiastic sun bather of her family from overdoing at the beginning of the season especially.

Why a sun tan is anyway? A suntanned skin is the fashion these days, but the parasol complexion may be equally healthy. Although a moderate degree of sunshine is essential to the growth and health of babies, it is not absolutely essential to the health of adults. Studies show that many persons who never see the light of the sun still enjoy good health.

A heavy sun tan is merely nature's way of protecting you from absorbing too much of the sun's rays. A severe sunburn may make you ill, especially if a large area of the body is involved. Headache, nausea, fever and even collapse may accompany too much exposure to the sun.

So don't be in too big a hurry to get your summer tan. Take your exposure in small doses to begin with. Two minutes on each side of the body is long enough at first, with two minutes added each day until the tanning is completed. The head and eyes should be protected during exposure. After you have become well-tanned you need not fear sunburn.

Victory gardeners who find it necessary to be out in the sun a great deal should keep head and arms covered, or first protect the skin with sweet oil or cold cream. If you get a sunburn blister it should be treated as any other kind of burn. It should be protected especially from breaking and becoming infected.

P.T.A. Activities

Cloverdale—The following officers were elected at the annual meeting: President, Mrs. V. Brown; first vice-president, A. R. Cann; second vice-president, Mrs. W. W. McGill; secretary, Mrs. J. A. Young; treasurer, D. Mouat; social convener, Mrs. W. H. Grimm; program convener, Miss M. E. Duncan; membership, Miss B. Hagerman; publicity, H. Curry; hospitality, Mrs. N. Camusua and D. Pearmain; district council representative, Mrs. W. W. McGill and Mrs. G. Oliver. Mrs. McGill spoke on "Your Child's Reading and Recreation," when she explained the aims of the children's library which she plans to open June 28 in her garden at 2. The mother will be encouraged to bring her child and join a discussion group on child psychology and problems common to all parents, she said. Stories of value will be read to the children and then expressed through dramatization. Co-operative singing programs will be enjoyed providing every opportunity to develop warm, mature, outgoing personalities.

Langford P.T.A.—A silver-tee will be held on Thursday at 2:15 in Langford school. There will be a short program by the pupils. Miss Adele McLeod will have on display and will give a talk on "Dolls Through the Ages."

Swift's Summer Suppers

Tasty, appetizing, nutritious and easy-to-prepare Swift's Table-Ready Meats are the answer to a wartime housewife's prayer.

There's nothing so colourful as a tastefully arranged platter of sliced cold meats with a crisp parsley or watercress garnish, and a big bowl of salad on the side. What's even more important these wartime days, it's about the quickest and easiest supper any woman can prepare. And nutritious? Why the whole set-up is just bursting with body building proteins, vitamins and minerals. So take my tip, from now on plan to serve a "Summer Supper" at least once a week. For a little variety start with soup one time, and have a platter of steaming asparagus with hollandaise sauce the next. But make "Table-Ready Meats" the main course at least once a week.

115,000 FAMILIES WILL WELCOME NEW ROOFS

Are you one of these family men whose wife has called you up at the office to say the roof's leaking again? Have you spent many hours going around with pots and pans to catch the drip?

Or is the family looking forward to remodelling the house? New appliances? New rugs? New furniture?

Are these just a thought, or have you a carefully worked out plan to pay for them? They'll cost money. So, you need to figure out every way in which you can accumulate cash. We'd like to make a suggestion.

You'll find it helps to watch those dimes, quarters and half-dollars which jingle in and out of your pocket—money you spend without really knowing what return you've had for it. Make this work for you. Deposit it regularly, each week, at interest, in a savings account with The Huron & Erie and the result will be a thrill by this time next year! You'll find yourself with a hundred—two hundred dollars.

So, start that savings account with The Huron & Erie, this very week!

Taggers To Aid Sevastopol

"Citizens of Victoria can show in a practical way their admiration for their Russian Allies," Mrs. W. E. M. Mitchell, convener of the tag day in aid of Sevastopol next Saturday, said today. "Their contributions through the tag day will go to buy medical supplies and clothing for the people of Victoria's adopted city."

Headquarters for the tag day which Victoria branch of the Canadian Aid to Russia Society is arranging will be at 717 View Street. Sponsors are Mrs. Nancy Hodges, M.L.A., Mrs. Andrew McGavin, Mrs. E. C. Warren, Mrs. W. L. Woodhouse, Mrs. T. Hadfield.

Mrs. Mitchell's committee includes Miss Margaret Clay, Mrs. C. Hudson, Mrs. H. P. Turner, Mrs. W. Ellis, Mrs. P. E. Corby, Mrs. N. Irving, Mr. Gordon Campbell, Mr. A. Derman.

Work Pressure, Rain Delay Flushcoating

Pressure of government work and rain has delayed arrangements for flushcoating city streets and sidewalks to the point where action cannot be expected even on sidewalks until the end of the month, it was learned from the city engineer's department today.

The major street work will probably not be undertaken until August. Privately-owned equipment is used for flushcoating, and will not be available for some time, officials explained.

Surveys have started on the Store Street improvement, from Johnson to Discovery, but no immediate plans have been made for a physical start on the $9,956 undertaking. The job is the biggest listed by the city's public works department this year.

The E. & N. Railway will relay certain tracks and the city will fix sidewalks and curbs before work starts on the road proper.

Civil Defence Chiefs Form Association Here

Formation of the District Wardens' Association, headed by J. T. Gawthrop, secretary of the Postwar Rehabilitation Council of Victoria, was announced today. The association has as its objects the maintenance of present civil defence organizations after the war and promoting a closer liaison between various districts of the Victoria area. District wardens, public building post-wardens, qualified incident officers and bomb reconnaissance agents of the Victoria metropolitan area may join the association.

G. W. Russell was named vice-president and C. L. Smith, secretary-treasurer. Honorary president is Insp. A. H. Bishop, Victoria controller; Capt. J. D. Proudfoot, Victoria chief warden, was named honorary vice-president.

June Flower Show

The Victoria Horticultural Society's summer flower show will be staged at the Crystal Garden June 23 and 24. The show will feature particularly roses, which should be just at their best at this time. Other flowers included in the list will be sweet peas, delphiniums, iris, pyrethrum, paeonies and, in addition there will be classes for artistic arrangements and also several vegetable and early fruit classes.

Entries are being received by the secretary, Ald. D. D. McTavish, 607 Fort Street.

Sports Mirror

By PETE SALLAWAY

SELDOM have local ball fans seen so many rousing base hits as boomed off the bats of those heavy hitting R.C.A.F. Flyers the other night when they came from far back to defeat the Eagles. And every one of the 10 extra base blows were real solid smashes. There was nothing lucky about them. It was too bad there were not more fans in the stand as it was one of those kind of games the real baseball lover glows over. It had just about everything.

ONLY THE other day I was writing about the scarcity of home runs in the league so the air force boys oblige with a couple. I'll bet the most surprised party of all when Pop Pay lifted the ball over the centre-field wall was Pay himself. The Flyers' towering first sacker is certainly no Ruthian clouter but he just happened to get a pitch that suited his style. This fellow Justice is rapidly proving himself one of the better players in the league. He is always dangerous at the plate and his fielding at the shortstop berth for the airmen has been high class.

EVERY TIME out Brian Forster gives further evidence he is the class of the second sackers in the league. The coach of the R.C.A.F. club certainly believes his "not interested" attitude. In the ball game all the time he makes hard hit ground balls look easy and the other evening showed he can really move by racing far into right field to make a beautiful one-handed catch of a blooper. Along with Justice, Forster gives the Flyers the smoothest through the middle combination in the circuit. And there is not a better player in the league to have at the plate if a manager wants to pull a squeeze play. Forster is rapidly becoming a favorite with the fans through his lazy, easy-going attitude but the other players in the league recognize him as a sweet ball player.

DESPITE the postponement of a couple of games through bad weather and wet grounds, attendance so far at the ball games is up 28 per cent over last season, president Bill Cull tells me. If the league is successful in lining up a good attraction for July 1, I wouldn't be surprised to see a record turn out. Increase in the crowds is attributed partly to the fact that the shipyards are not working Saturday afternoons, this season with the result the weekend games are drawing a lot more fans through the gate.

JIM COLEMAN writes as follows in the Toronto Globe and Mail about the bookmaker who had the ticket on the recent $3,500 daily double at the Dufferin track:

"One rousing Bronx cheer to the big-hearted bookmaker who had the ticket on that $3,500 daily-double at Dufferin. As you have read, the two horses, Apropos and Shoeless Lass, were selected by one of the bookmaker's clients. The fellow bet $2 on his choices and the bookmaker explained that he paid odds of only 50-1 on daily-doubles.

"That part of the transaction was strictly okay. But then the bookmaker went out to the track and bought a daily-double ticket on the two horses for himself—merely to protect his wager.

"So the horses won and the bookmaker collects $3,500. Then, in a gesture of unprecedented generosity, he gave a total of $200 to the gent who had selected the horses and made the bookmaker's coup possible.

"Why, the fussy cheap-skate—he should have given the fellow at least $1,000. "Our friends of the Board of the Bookmakers' Benevolent and Protective Association should take away the guy's license and run him out into Lake Ontario. One bird like that will give the profession a bad name!"

Tennis Controversy

Victoria Club Oldest?

By SYD THOMAS
TORONTO (CP) — It never seems to fail, that when you write that something is the oldest, youngest, biggest, smallest, and so on, in the country, something always pops up to go it one better. That's what happened in the case of this corner's comment on the Toronto Lawn Tennis Club, which claims to be the oldest in Canada and held its 50th anniversary June 10.

Now an old-time tennis fan crops up in Winnipeg to say that the 'Peg club has been in operation at least since 1885—nine years before the apparent formation of the Toronto club—and possibly longer. The Manitoba lawn tennis championships were held in 1885, so the club probably was formed before that.

The same fan says it is his opinion that the Victoria lawn tennis club is the oldest in Canada. The first tourney was held there in 1893, and records show the club was formed in April, 1886. That, apparently, makes it one year younger than the Winnipeg outfit.

The whole thing may cause as much research as the hockey hall of fame did.

VERSATILE VIRTUOSO

Lou Adelman, former star football centre from Winnipeg and eminent shower-room bawler, has blossomed forth as a song writer, reports Herb (Winnipeg Tribune) Manning. Lou fathered a little ditty called "waiting," that was sung by Miss Gwen Bradshaw over a national network.

Herb adds: "From all reports, Mr. Adelman's 'Waiting' was a pretty good effort for a start, with a very sorrowful message about young ladies waiting for

Bowden Crowned Men's Champion At Victoria Club

Wally Bowden captured the men's championship of the Victoria Golf Club Sunday with a 4 and 3 victory over A. S. G. Musgrave over 36 holes. Played under ideal conditions, it was an interesting final, with Bowden staging a great comeback after being 2 down at the end of the first 18 holes.

After Bowden had taken the lead at the second hole in the morning, Musgrave squa'ced the match at the fourth. The next three holes were halved in par, with Bowden regaining the lead at the eighth with the help of a stytle. Musgrave's birdie at the ninth squared matters for the second time. Musgrave went ahead for the first time at the 11th and the next four holes were halved. Bowden squared matters on the 16th, but a pair of pars gave Musgrave the next two holes and a 2-up margin.

Second round opened with Bowden capturing the first two holes to square the match. The 21st and 22nd holes were halved in pars. Bowden then cut loose with a flock of pars and birdies through to the 29th hole, gaining him a 5-up lead. The new champion was even three for six holes. Musgrave fought back with a win at the 32nd but Bowden ended matters at the 33rd as he blasted out of a trap and dropped home a seven-foot putt. Eddie Horsman won the first flight by defeating Col. R. L. Fort on the 18th green. In the third flight final K. J. Burland won a nip-and-tuck battle from H. Haynes on the final green. Lt. Col. H. Westmorland defeated Dr. E. L. Niven 3 and 2 in the second flight final.

Pepper's Patage Wins at Winnipeg

WINNIPEG (CP)—Under the auspices of the Winnipeg Jockey Club, the last half of the local 27-day race meet got under way Saturday when favorites and long shots mixed it up to keep close to 7,000 spectators warm despite the cool day.

Feature race of the day, the Western Canada Handicap, with a $1,500 added purse was won by Patage, owned by W. H. Pepper of Victoria. Ridden by jockey Allan, Patage staved off a stretch drive to win in a photo finish over the highly-favored Teeworth. Patage paid $16.20 for a straight ticket. Noble King took the show spot.

The daily double from Pagan Court in the first race to Hi Meadows in the second, paid $107. The quinnella with the winner, Treasure Band, paying $16.80 for straight and Royal Memory, returned $16.75.

Results follow:
First race—Purse $500, claiming, three-year-olds and up, six and six furlongs. (Time, 1:22 3/4.) Also ran: Little Bunt, Honeydew, Mink, Coon-Dog, Streamlight, Dutch Defender.

V.M.D., Army Win Baseball

Navy-Flyers Tonight

Pushing across the winning run in the 10th inning, Victoria Machinery Depot defeated the Navy 4 to 3 Saturday for their fifth victory in six starts in the senior ball league. Evening game saw the Army clout the ball hard to turn back the Eagles 13 to 5 to move into fourth place and drop the lodgement into the cellar. Navy defeat took them second place, the R.C.A.F. taking over the runner-up spot back of the shipbuilders.

Tonight the Navy and R.C.A.F. will hook up in what should prove an interesting battle. Game time is 6:30. Wind-up of the V.M.D.-Navy game came in dramatic fashion. Duffy led off the inning with a sharp single to left field and Morgan and Barnswell beat out successive bunts to load the bases with nobody out. Reg Patterson stepped to the plate and the second pitch struck him in the leg to force home the winning run. In the top half of the 10th the Navy missed a great chance to take the lead as the result of some poor base running. Walker, first man up, hit the wire on top of the right centrefield fence for two bases. Gil Bruce was intentionally walked. Naughton sacrificed the runners along. After taking two balls, Latiff hit a roller to Barnswell at third and was thrown out. Bruce in the meantime had gone all the way down to third and Walker, in attempting to reach home, was run down for the third out, allowing the shipbuilders to get out of a nasty hole.

MORGAN HITS HOMER
V.M.D. took a one-run lead in the second inning when Noel Morgan got a home run inside the park. His line drive into left field took a bad bounce over Moretti's shoulder when he slipped in attempting to take it on the first bounce and rolled all the way to the fence. Navy tied the score in the fourth, but the V.M.D., "ot it back in their half of the inning. Shipbuilders went ahead 3 to 1 in the sixth. In the eighth, the Navy, by the help of some 'spotty' fielding by the V.M.D., got two runs back to tie the score.

Cy Shillito marked up his fourth pitching victory for the V.M.D. The right-hander came up with the most speed he has shown all season, in giving up 14 hits, while he struck out six and walked one. Jimmy Crosato limited the V.M.D. to 10 safeties while he fanned five and issued three free passes. In the seventh frame Bobby Weigand, Navy first baseman, was thrown out of the game by Umpire Chuck Restell, for what the official called "ungentlemanly conduct," in his protest of a called strike. Navy team officials squawked strongly against the ruling of the ump's to no avail. He was replaced by Lefty Pawluk.

At the end of the seventh inning Maurice Duffy, V.M.D. outfielder, was presented with a wst by manager Joe Casey, in appreciation of his fine play and sportsmanship with the team the last two seasons. Duffy will be leaving the club in a few weeks to join the services. The gift was from the club personnel. Lashing out 15 hits, four of them for extra bases, the Army

Nelson Captures Open Golf With 13 Under Par 275

NEW ROCHELLE, N.Y., (AP)—Byron Nelson of Toledo, O., former P.G.A. and National Open golf champion, won $2,666 in war bonds Saturday as he won the New York Red Cross tournament with a 72-hole score of 275, or 13 under par.

Sgt. Vic Ghezzi of Atlantic City, N.J., was second, four strokes back, and Mike Turnesa of White Plains, N.Y., was third with 284, a stroke ahead of Gene Sarazen of Darien Conn., who turned in the final day's top round with a 68.

Nelson scored 69, 69, 66 and 71. With Saturday's win, Nelson has finished in the money in 52 straight tournaments, since January of 1940, giving him the nearest approach to Ben Hogan's record of 56.

Jack Patrol of Manchester, Vt., former caddy at the Wyckoff course where the war bond event was staged, finished in a fourth-place tie with Sarazen while Harold (Jug) Mespaden of Philadelphia was fifth with 286, or 11 strokes back of Nelson.

Craig Wood, duration national champion from Mamaroneck, N.Y., finished with 287 to land well up in the prize list of 20.

Sam Byrd of Detroit, winner of the recent Philadelphia Open, turned in a par 72 for a 291 total.

Albions, Five C's Win Cricket Games

Albions and Five C's came through with victories in Saturday afternoon's cricket matches. The former, leading the league, defeated the Royal Canadian Navy, 130 declared to 38, while the C's won from the Royal Navy 31 to 22 in the lowest scoring match of the season.

With Freeman putting on 56 retired and Hobday contributing 32 and Grant 22, the Albions had little trouble with the R.C.N. Pugh was high bat for the sailors with 20. Freeman and Grant were top bowlers for the Albions, the former with three wickets for 14 runs and Grant three for 15.

The C's Royal Navy fixture saw the bowlers completely dominate the picture. Not one batsman reached double figures on either team and eight players wound up with a duck.

Jack Payne of the C's was in deadly form, taking eight wickets for 13 runs. Wainwright of the Navy captured four for 12 and Mundell three for 12.

Acara Whips Smart Field in Handicap

TORONTO (CP)—H. C. Hatch's Acara, winner of the 85th running of the King's Plate three weeks ago, Saturday led a field of six to victory in the $5,000 added Open Handicap for Canadian-bred three and four-year-olds, feature race of the Long Branch meet at Dufferin—race track.

The favored Tulachmore, from the MacDonald Stable, was second, and another Hatch entry, Campalo, was third. The winner paid $3.65 for a $2 straight ticket.

Detroit Wins Pair From Leading Browns

Hal Newhouser, one of the Detroit Tigers, is finally fulfilling the promise he gave five years ago of becoming the finest lefthander in the American League.

The 23-year-old southpaw became the first pitcher in the league to win 10 games, yesterday, helping the Tigers take both games of a doubleheader from the league-leading St. Louis Browns, 7 to 3 and 7 to 5. He joined Bucky Walters of the Cincinnati Reds as the only 10-game winners in the majors.

In pitching his seventh complete game of the year, Hal gave up six hits and fanned five. A home run by Rudy York with one on in the ninth gave the Tigers a clean sweep of the two games. Paul Trout, in relief, won his eighth victory of the season.

The New York Giants took both ends of a twin bill from the Boston Braves, 9 to 2 and 7 to 1, to climb into third place in the National League standings, a half-game ahead of the Reds.

Philadelphia Athletics downed the New York Yankees twice, 4 to 0 and 8 to 6, to drop the world champions into sixth place. Luke Hamlin blanked the Yankees with four hits in the opener, with Frank Hayes hitting his eighth homer to tie Roy Cullenbine for the league lead. A six-run first-inning enabled the A's to win the second, 8 to 6.

Chicago White Sox took two close games from Cleveland Indians, 3 to 2 in 10 innings, and 6 to 5.

Brooklyn Dodgers and Philadelphia Phillies divided their two games, the Dodgers winning the first, 7 to 3, and the Phillies taking the second, 6 to 2.

The St. Louis Cardinals and Pittsburgh Pirates split a doubleheader. Mort Cooper won his sixth game in the opener, 12 to 2, and Fritz Ostermueller tamed the Cards, 3 to 1, with three hits in the nightcap.

After losing the opener to Boston, 9 to 6, Washington took the nightcap, 1 to 0, behind the fourth pitching of Earl Wynn.

The Reds defeated Chicago Cubs, 5 to 2, in the first game of a doubleheader on 40,222 fans, largest crowd at Wrigley Field. The second game ended in a tie, called after 13 innings on account of darkness. Bill Nicholson hit two homers for the Cubs.

Allied Communique No. 24

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCES (AP)—Allied forces have pushed deeply into Normandy, freeing St. Sauveur le Vicomte and villages east and west of Tilly-sur-Suelles, Communique No. 24 announced Saturday night.

Allied troops have reached the Vire-et Taute canal in an advance two miles south of Isigny.

The text: "Allied forces have pushed deeper into Normandy and villages east and west of Tilly-sur-Suelles have been freed of the enemy."

"Advancing two miles south of Isigny our troops have reached the Vire-et Taute canal."

"In the Cherbourg Peninsula St. Sauveur-le Vicomte has been liberated."

"Air operations were sharply curtailed from dawn to mid-day when bad weather obscured much of the battle area. Nevertheless, fighter-bombers and rocket-firing fighters attacked railway yards, motor convoys and bridges leading to the Cherbourg Peninsula."

"A convoy of horse-drawn vehicles was destroyed at La Traverserie and enemy machine-gun nests at Folligny were strafed."

"No enemy fighters were encountered during these operations."

"Shortly after noon medium forces of heavy bombers with fighter escort attacked seven enemy airfields in southern Normandy. Three enemy aircraft were destroyed. Two of our bombers and one fighter are missing."

"Other fighters destroyed a railroad bridge across the Comme canal."

"Early this morning coastal aircraft attacked enemy shipping in the Channel."

R.A.F. Fires 2 Minesweepers

LONDON (CP)—Two German minesweepers were left burning and an armed trawler was damaged Saturday in an attack by canon-fighting Beaufighters of the R.A.F. Coastal Command off the Netherlands coast. One plane is missing.

Japs Threaten Lukow

CHUNGKING (AP)—Jap forces which have by-passed Changsha in Hunan province, now are threatening Lukow, 30 miles south of the strategic city, the Chinese high command disclosed today. Fighting was in progress only eight miles northeast of Lukow, whose fall would open the way to a Japanese push on the vitally important city of Hengyang, where the railway from Kwangsi province to the southwest meets the north-south Canton-Hankow line.

Ace Says Luftwaffe Still Carries Sting

OTTAWA (CP)—Wing Cmdr. R. S. Turnbull, D.F.C., A.F.C., D.F.M., on his way home to Govan, Sask., on leave after 3½ years overseas, said today the Luftwaffe still carries a sting. Wing Cmdr. Turnbull, commanding officer of the R.C.A.F.'s famed Lion Squadron, has a record of 50 operation sorties. In pre-invasion raids, he said, air opposition had been spasmodic, but occasionally resistance was stiff.

De Gaulle Back In Algiers

ALGIERS (AP)—Gen. de Gaulle returned to Algiers from London this afternoon and will address a session of the Consultative Assembly Sunday, on the fourth anniversary of his appeal to the French people from London to keep alive "the flames of French resistance." This session of the assembly may be the last in Africa.

Maj.-Gen. George P. Vanier, Canadian representative with the French Committee of National Liberation, was among diplomats who met Gen. de Gaulle on his return, radio France reported. The broadcast said Alfred Duff Cooper, British representative with the committee, arrived in Algiers in another plane shortly after De Gaulle.

$300,000 Damage Caused by Rain

WENATCHEE, Wash. (AP)—Rains have done an estimated $300,000 damage to the Wenatchee Valley's million-dollar cherry crop, fruit handlers and growers estimated today.

Most extensive splitting injury was in Bing and Royal Ann varieties in the earlier districts, with very little damage reported on Lambert trees.

The Wenatchee Valley's crop is estimated at 300 cars, nearly 8,000,000 pounds, with record prices of 12 to 16 cents a pound in prospect.

C.I.O. Section Chief Heads Quebec C.C.F.

MONTREAL (CP)—Delegates at the closing session of a two-day provincial convention of the C.C.F. Party Sunday mapped out a large-scale organization plan to familiarize Quebecers with the draft of their program they adopted during their meeting here.

R. J. Lamoureux, assistant director of District No. 6 of the United Steel Workers of America (C.I.O.) was elected president of the Quebec section of the C.C.F. Party. He succeeds Dr. Frank Scott of Montreal, national chairman of the C.C.F., who had held both offices for a number of years. Dr. Scott remains on the provincial council.

Japanese Claims

NEW YORK (AP)—Tokyo radio declared Sunday night, without confirmation from Allied quarters, that a United States battleship and a "warship" of unspecified type had been sunk, four other vessels damaged and 124 U.S. planes shot down since the start of the invasion of the Marianas.

Yes, we need your help... and need it badly.

This is the biggest job we have ever tackled! Everything depends upon Victory.

Canada's Army needs volunteers NOW! And, that means you and you and you.

Wear Canada's Badge of Honour on your arm. You'll be proud of it, so will your family.

Every man who is able has got to do his bit!

Maybe you don't think this means you... that it's a job for the other fellow.

If you do, you're wrong. It's your war, too... a war for every man who is a man... for everyone who has a stake in Canada.

Yes, this means you all right and we need you now for the months of intensive training to make you fighting-fit. We did it before and we can do it again... but we need your help.

Speech Day Marks Brentwood College Coming-of-Age

Brentwood College celebrated its coming-of-age at the 21st annual speech day and prizegiving Saturday. The afternoon program was preceded by an all-day cricket match between the school and a team of old boys, parents, and past parents, which was won by the visitors, who scored 88 for 9 wickets to 48 by the school. Thornton Ople, an O.B., scored 53 runs not out for the visitors.

Headmaster Privett reviewed Brentwood's history during the 21 years, mentioning particularly the scholastic attainments of her old boys, who had been represented in all Canadian universities, in Oxford and Cambridge and in the R.C.N.C.

Three hundred Brentwood boys were now serving in Canadian, American and British forces, and 13 had already paid the supreme sacrifice.

The headmaster introduced Logan Mayhew, an old boy and member of the board of governors.

He said he wished he could see the Old Boys' Association take over the debenture stock and through it create scholarships to make the school even more democratic than it already was so that some boys who might not otherwise be able to enjoy the privileges might do so. Perhaps the old boys returning victorious from overseas might assume this responsibility, Mr. Mayhew said.

Mrs. W. C. Nichol, who presented the prizes, brought back to the school the silver key with which her husband had opened the school in 1923, and after the ceremony a small bouquet was presented to Mrs. Nichol by Alasdair Scott-Moncrieff, the son of an old boy now serving overseas and grandson of the chairman of the board of governors.

The list of prizewinners follows:
Form prizes—Shell, D. S. McCarthy; remove, D. B. Belliss; Grade 10, 1st J. F. Watson, 2nd H. D. W. Bridgman; Grade 11, 1st C. W. Church, 2nd K. O. Kirwan; Grade 12, R. M. T. Butler; Grade 13, R. G. Lammers.

Special prizes—Angus prize for science, R. G. Lammers; Curtis prize for mathematics, D. F. Homer-Dixon; Williams prize for languages, R. M. T. Butler; Scott-Moncrieff prize for English, C. L. Graham; reading-in-chapel, D. F. Homer-Dixon; special effort prize, J. F. Newton.

Heard 4 Times

Twelve members of the Peroni Opera Company of Seattle were well received in a concert sponsored by the Victoria District 5 Civil Defence at Victoria High School Saturday night. Three members of the party sang at Beacon Hill Park Sunday afternoon, and at Prince Robert House and the Knights of Columbus Hall Sunday night.

Saturday the company was entertained by the Victoria Civil Defence at a luncheon at the Poodle Dog Cafe. Sunday afternoon the singers were guests of the city at a luncheon at the Empress Hotel.

Lloyd Bloom, who sang selections from "La Gioconda," was well received and called back for two encores at the Saturday night concert.

Elvin McGinnis with Marie O'Connor sang selections from "La Traviata," while other members of the party sang arias from the operas "Samson and Delilah," "Halka," "Faust," and "Aida." Director and owner of the company, Madame Carolyn Tower, was accompanist.

Staying in Victoria for the Sunday concert were Mr. McGinnis, Miss O'Connor and Marie Schulte.

City police, investigating a report made by a soldier at Clover Point that a man appeared to be making sketches of waterfront defences, found a man in a car writing a letter at 8.15 Sunday night.

Taxi Driver Stuck Up, Slugged, Robbed

Gordon Graham, taxi driver, was stuck up, robbed of $70 and then slapped by his passenger early Sunday morning on Empress Avenue.

Graham, who works for the Checker Cabs, told police he had been called to Quadra and Pembroke by a woman who had asked for him. He picked up a man, who asked to be taken to Empress and Haultain.

At Empress Avenue, the man, who was in the back seat of the cab, stuck something into his neck, Graham said, and told him to hand over his wallet and keys. Graham complied.

The man then slugged him over the eye and temple with a heavy iron weight and ran off. Graham, in a dazed condition, stumbled to a house on Blackwood Avenue and called the police. The empty wallet was found on the front seat of the car.

2 Girls Injured When Car Hits Pole

A car driven south on Fernwood by Andrew Brown, 1746 Carrick, crashed into a telephone pole near Pembroke at 9.50 Saturday night.

Two girls were removed to Royal Jubilee Hospital by city police and attended by Dr. E. L. McNiven for cuts and bruises.

Police reported the driver and three other men in the car were not injured.

A car driven by Nathaniel Fraser, 159 Cook, crashed into a telephone wire and piled up in a hedge on Memorial Crescent at 3.55 Sunday afternoon, city police reported. They said the driver had suffered a sick spell.

Charles Collard, driver of a car which struck a parked car outside 563 Burnside at 1.30 Saturday night, suffered cuts on his hands and passengers in his car suffered minor abrasions. The car was considerably damaged.

L. P. Moore, 306 Edward, reported Saturday he had left his car on the street and on returning found it half a block away, the front end stove in against a telephone pole.

May Increase Gin

Permit holders in B.C. may be allowed 40 ounces of gin during July, it was stated unofficially today. Other liquor amounts will remain unchanged from June it is said.

During March and April purchasers were allowed 40 ounces of gin but in May the ration was reduced to 26 ounces because of depleted stocks. As purchases of the liquor since that time have fallen off there is enough stock on hand to allow the increase.

P. W. W. Bell Dies

Peter Warren Wentworth Bell, 72, for 16 years district engineer at Victoria for the B.C. Public Works Department, died Sunday at St. Joseph's Hospital.

Born in Ontario, Mr. Bell came west as a young man, settling in Victoria 30 years ago. As a civil engineer he had traveled widely and had worked on great engineering projects in China. In 1923 he joined the Public Works Department, retiring last year.

Saanich Grass Fire Burns Over 1 Acre

A grass fire to which Saanich firemen were called at 12.15 Sunday afternoon burned over about an acre on the south side of Mount Douglas. The fire was extinguished after an hour's battle.

Oak Bay firemen were called out to a grass blaze at Cattle Point at 1 Sunday afternoon. The fire did no damage.

'Sonny' Walker, Air Hero, Back Home But Says Little

"Sonny" Walker of Victoria doesn't talk much," reporters in Vancouver were warned. The reporters received proof today.

He came home after more than three years overseas. He has made a mercy flight that has been given world-wide publicity. He has won the D.F.C. He had flown bombers in Britain, in north Africa and in the invasion of Sicily and Italy.

He was interned for three months in Spanish Morocco. But when reporters queried him at the Vancouver depot today, all Lt.-Lt. William Evan "Sonny" Walker would do was answer questions by saying "yes" or "no."

As far as this well-known Victoria athlete and air hero is concerned, his flight across the Adriatic to carry blood plasma to Marshal Tito's gallant men was "just a little hop."

He was in north Africa before Tunis fell. He helped invade Sicily and then Italy, but, "So did a lot of other chaps."

That's the way "Sonny" Walker is.

Saanich By 19 Votes Rejects Program For New Schools

The proposed $100,000 Saanich school building program, having been defeated by the ratepayers by 19 votes, Martin Neilson, chairman of the Saanich School Board, today said the board would do everything in its power to provide accommodation for students next September and probably put the proposed expenditure to the voters, again perhaps next December at the municipal elections.

Mr. Neilson said the question of providing accommodation and relieving crowding in Saanich schools, would be discussed tonight by the board.

While it would be possible to have the by-law put to the voters again at anytime, he believed the Saanich council would not approve such a move immediately because of the expense, was expressed today.

A recount of the ballots today showed that 1,356 of the 10,000 Saanich voters expressed their opinion at the Saturday poll. Voting for the project were 791 persons and against were 558. The by-law, to receive the necessary three-fifths majority, required 810 votes. Seven ballots were rejected.

Results of the recount conducted today were given by Wilfred Greene, returning officer, as follows:

	Yes	No	Rejected
Ward 1	180	71	2
Ward 2	184	103	2
Ward 3	64	58	6
Ward 4	92	89	6
Ward 5	64	45	6
Ward 6	43	45	2
Ward 7	184	152	2

DISAPPOINTED

Disappointment at the result of the poll was expressed by several members of the board. M. P. Paine, chairman of the buildings and grounds committee, made the following statement:

"I am naturally very disappointed at the result of the vote on the by-law. The program proposed was so very necessary, it is indeed regrettable that so many who knew of the urgent necessity failed to turn out to vote. It was the apathy of those who didn't vote that caused the defeat of the by-law."

"Its defeat will necessitate a drastic redistribution and crowding of children throughout Saanich schools. Many will have to travel long distances and many will have to go to Victoria schools, at great expense to parents and children."

"It may also be necessary to refuse admittance to some beginners."

Harold Pendray, 49, Dies in Hospital

One of Victoria's ranking cricket and rugby players of a few years back, Edwin Harold Pendray, 49, died in the Royal Jubilee Hospital Sunday.

As a rugby player, Mr. Pendray was one of the finest forwards to ever perform on Victoria intercity fields. He was one of the players selected to play against two of the touring teams from New Zealand.

On the cricket field, Mr. Pendray was a noted bowler and also recognized as a first-class batsman. He played for Victoria intercity elevens on many occasions and in local competition starred with the Five C's and Tillicums.

Mr. Pendray was head dispatcher at the Vancouver Island Coach lines.

'Phantom Lady' Ominous Thriller

More than half of Universal's "Phantom Lady," coming today to the Oak Bay and Plaza Theatres, is silent, completely without sound effects or dialogue. It was so filmed purposely by Director Robert Siodmak, who had his reasons. He did not revert to the pantomime art of silent films without those reasons.

A mystery story, "Phantom Lady" is a highly photogenic "lady," Siodmak explains: "That is why I decided to tell the story in large part through implication and mood, rather than by action and dialogue alone."

The screen story of "Phantom Lady" was prepared by Bernard Schoenfeld, based on William Irish's Detective Book-of-the-Month novel of the same title.

Bette Davis Stars In 'Now Voyager'

In her latest picture, Warner Bros. "Now, Voyager," which opens today at the York Theatre, Bette Davis has a new, glorious role that surpasses anything she has done before. She plays the part of a neurotic daughter of a strict New England mother, whose only escape from her sordid world is a frustrated love affair. In the male lead is suave, handsome Paul Henreid.

Charlotte Vale (Miss Davis' role) is interviewed by a psychiatrist, Dr. Jaquith (Claude Rains) who was brought there by her sister-in-law Lisa (Ilka Chase).

After a period of trial readjustment at Dr. Jaquith's rest home, he advises Charlotte to take a trip before returning home. This she does, and during the voyage, meets and falls in love with Jerry (Paul Henreid) an unhappily married man whose love for his child keeps him attached to his invalid wife. Despite the fact that her love affair can never really reach its ultimate, Charlotte's relationship with Jerry enables her to return home a completely changed woman both in appearance and mentally.

A SCENE FROM "Lost Angel," starring Marsha Hunt, now being shown at the Capitol Theatre.

Margaret O'Brien Stars 'Lost Angel'

James Craig and Marsha Hunt, the romantic team of William Saroyan's "The Human Comedy," recent Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer hit picture, are teamed again in "Lost Angel," new starring picture for Margaret O'Brien, now showing at the Capitol Theatre.

Craig portrays a tough, likeable reporter who is assigned to report the experiment of Miss O'Brien's being raised scientifically as a prodigy by a group of professors. Miss Hunt is cast as a night club singer with whom the reporter is in love.

Craig's telegraph manager and Miss Hunt's society girl roles in "The Human Comedy" were outstanding, and their assignment to "Lost Angel" as the romantic leads was a result of this teaming.

'Life With Father' Well Received

Victoria theatregoers were carried back 60 years for two hours of hilarious comedy Saturday night at the Royal Victoria as Oscar Serlin presented Clarence Day's "Life With Father." The house was well filled.

As Father, Harry Bannister largely carried the show, and found the perfect foil in Mary Loane as Vinnie, the mother of his four sons, who were well played by four young veterans of the stage. Others in the cast handled their parts well, with Elsa Johnson gracefully typifying the young New York miss of the 1880's.

All the scenes were laid in the living-room of a middle-class home of that period, complete with bric-a-brac, crayon enlargements of family portraits and great quantities of plush hanging everywhere. The costumes were charming.

Well-constructed, the play worked up interest with the curtain calls of family portrait tableaux providing a perfect closing.

Third Term Work For Durbin Stand-in

Marie Osborne is Deanna Durbin's stand-in for the star's new Universal picture, "His Butler's Sister," currently on the screen of the Cadet Theatre. This marks the third successive picture in which Miss Osborne, the former Baby Marie of silent picture fame, has stood in for Deanna.

was staged with beer bottles as handy weapons, and another fight took place on a narrow gantry overlooking two enormous vats of foaming beer. Into this George Formby and his leading lady, Google Withers, were made to fall, whether they liked it or not.

'Random Harvest' Strangest Romance

One of the strangest love stories in years is enacted on the screen by Ronald Colman and Greer Garson in "Random Harvest," romance of an amnesia victim and a woman whose devotion finally unravels the tangled skein of his memory. Adapted from the best-selling novel by James Hilton, the picture comes today to the Rio Theatre.

The production unites the stars of two notable successes based on Hilton stories. Colman starred in "Lost Horizon," Miss Garson in "Goodbye, Mr. Chips."

Sea Cadet Band Of Vancouver Here

Forty-one trim, young members of the Captain Vancouver Bugle Band of the Vancouver Sea Cadets, who arrived in Victoria Saturday as guests of the Victoria branch of the Navy League of Canada, are today being entertained by the Royal Canadian Navy.

Members of Victoria's Rainbow Sea Cadets met the band at the boat and the lads paraded through the downtown streets, breaking ranks at Prince Robert House, where refreshments were served. Lt. A. Griffin and Midshipman R. Sapp led the Vancouver cadets and Lt. J. Willey and Lt. S. Krag the Victoria cadets. B. Ciceri and A. Harmsen were petty officers of the Rainbow group, and leading seamen of the Vancouver Cadet Band were Bill Shortreed, Joe McWhinney and Bill Redford.

The bandmen were guests of Prince Robert House and were entertained at the Crystal Garden Saturday night.

Librarians Meet

VANCOUVER (CP)—Problems of rehabilitation, affiliation with labor, and the newly established Canadian Library Council will be discussed at the 23rd annual conference of the British Columbia Library Association here Wednesday.

Grant MacNeil, member of the provincial government's postwar rehabilitation council, will be a featured speaker. Resolutions and discussions dealing with the library and its relation to rehabilitation problems will follow the address.

Late George Green Came Here in 1898

After a lifetime connected with the navy, George Stephen Green, 72, of Cedar Hill Road, will be buried tomorrow at 3. He had been in ill health some months and died at St. Joseph's Hospital.

Mr. Green was born in 1872 at Littleham, Sussex, England. Early in life he joined the Royal Navy and served in such famous warships as Warspite, Amphion and Victoria. In 1898 he arrived in Esquimalt, and remained in the dockyard as a carpenter for four years. He fell in love with Victoria and on his return to England obtained his discharge and returned to Victoria in 1907 to make his home. Before leaving the navy, however, he worked on the great British battleship Dreadnought at Portsmouth.

When the 1914-18 war broke out Mr. Green offered his services to the navy and served as foreman carpenter at Esquimalt dockyard, continuing that work until poor health forced his retirement a year ago.

Mr. Green was a member of Alexandra Lodge, Sons of England, and Ancient Order of Foresters.

"HAND CANNON" WAS AN ANCESTOR OF BIG MODERN GUNS

War pictures show us "big guns" which are being moved about, or which are in action. These are sights to see, and they make mighty explosions when they are fired.

It is a long distance from a modern cannon to the early "hand cannon" with its small barrel. Yet the hand cannon may be called a great-grandfather of the present-day big guns.

Six hundred years have rolled by since men in western Europe began to fire cannon which contained gunpowder. Some of these cannon had short barrels but wide mouths. They were of the "mortar" type and could hurl their "cannon balls" only a few hundred feet.

The wide-mouthed cannon were too clumsy to be moved around very well, but some soldiers had short guns which could be held in the hands. These may remind us of present-day "bazookas," since they were little more than straight barrels. The bullet, however, was sent forward by a single explosion of gunpowder, and the principle of the rocket was not used.

Those hand cannon were short. Sometimes the barrel was only two feet in length. In other cases it was as much as three or four feet long.

The custom was to fasten the barrel to a strip of wood, so it could be held more easily. Powder was poured in through the muzzle of the gun. The gunpowder known at that time was very weak, and a great deal of it had to be used.

After the powder went into the barrel, the shot was dropped in. For many years it was common to use small stones as the missiles to be fired. Later came balls made of iron, lead and brass.

The barrel of a hand cannon at first had a hole, or bore, only half an inch or an inch wide. In later times some of the barrels were made with bores of two inches or more.

The larger hand cannon were handled by at least two men.

There was a small hole in the metal barrel, just above the part where the powder was placed. This hole was filled with gunpowder. When the weapon was to be fired, the powder in the "touchhole" was set off with a small torch, a glowing wick or a piece of red-hot metal.

Japanese Driven Out of Assam

KANDY, Ceylon (CP)—The last Japanese have been thrown out of Assam, in northeastern India, and operations are proceeding satisfactorily to drive the rest off the Kohima-Imphal road in Manipur, it was announced today.

Large-scale withdrawals of Japanese south and east toward Ukhrul, 24 miles northeast of Imphal, were observed and the congested columns were strafed by the R.A.F., Allied headquarters said.

The monsoon was slowing Allied operations, however, and rubber boats were employed to maintain some positions and evacuate casualties.

Allied troops compressed further the Japanese defensive arcs at Mogaung and Myitkyina in northern Burma.

ABOUT

JOHNS-MANVILLE

HISTORIC LETTER SET SOUND POLICY

In the Johns-Manville files there's a mighty interesting letter written in 1868—76 years ago—by H. W. Johns, one of the two founders of Johns-Manville. This letter reads in part:

"We would invite your attention to the newly-discovered uses of asbestos by which we have been able to add greatly to the value of our manufactures. We promise and claim less than many others, but shall endeavor as heretofore to furnish the best materials of the kind, and to make every resource available for their improvement."

For more than 76 years this statement of policy has guided Johns-Manville in its continuous effort to make better products for less money—serving the home owner, industry and now our country at war. And today the J-M mine at Asbestos, Que., is the largest asbestos mine in the world.
